

Gov. Williams Urges Boost in Debt Ceiling

Michigan Chief Striving to Ease Financial Crisis

BY ROGER LANE

Lansing, Mich. — Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams today appealed to the Republican-dominated state senate to approve an increase in Michigan's borrowing ceiling to $50 million in an effort to ease the state's financial crisis.

The proposal to increase the bonded debt ceiling from $250,000 to the multi-million dollar figure passed in the state house yesterday on its third try. Speedy senate approval is necessary if the proposal is to be put on the April 6 state election ballot in the form of a required constitutional amendment.

Other Proposals
The higher debt ceiling is one of several proposals which have been advanced to ease Michigan's financial pinch in the face of a mounting state deficit expected to reach $110 million by June 30. Administrative officials say the $50 million must be raised to enable the state to meet current operational expenses until the legislature can enact new tax legislation.

Money raised through the higher borrowing limit will be used to meet state payrolls, aid to welfare recipients and payments to contractors.

Ike to Meet Macmillan At His Lodge

Washington — President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan will go to a secluded mountain lodge for their initial talks starting March 20 on the Berlin crisis.

The sessions will be at Eisenhower's retreat in the Catskill mountains near Thrumont, Md.

Announcing this, today, the White House said the president and Macmillan probably will be at the lodge for at least three days — through March 22. This would be a long weekend — Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

May Stay Longer
Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that does not necessarily mean the talks will last only three days.

Hagerty left open the possibility of a longer stay at the rustic lodge, or continuation of the talks in Washington or elsewhere.

In response to a question, Hagerty said Eisenhower is hopeful that Sec. of State Dulles, still in a hospital for radiation treatment for cancer, will be able to participate in some of the Anglo-American talks.

There was no word whether Dulles, who has been hospitalized since Feb. 10, would be able to travel to the Catskill mountain lodge. Last weekend Dulles left the hospital for brief automobile rides in Washington parks.

Eisenhower's lodge, situated about 65 miles north of Washington, is known as Camp David. It was named by the president for both his father and his 10-year-old grandson, David Eisenhower.

Macmillan Asks West For Elastic Position

Stresses Unity but Sees Need For Flexibility on Berlin Crisis

Bonn — British Prime Minister Macmillan flew into Bonn today to see West German Chancellor Adenauer and said the west must adopt an elastic position in trying to meet the Soviet challenge to Berlin.

"We all stand together, but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic," Macmillan told newsmen at the airport.

The British prime minister arrived half an hour after Soviet Premier Khrushchev took off from East Berlin for Moscow. During eight days in East Germany he had plugged as hard as ever for a German peace treaty and showed himself still determined to wrest West Berlin from the western allies.

$109,000 Set For Improving High Cliff Park

State Commission Releases Funds for Roads, Boat Landing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A major improvement program for High Cliff State Forest park on the northeastern shore of Lake Winnebago was assured this morning as the state conservation commission released funds for $109,000 worth of new roads, parking lots and the construction of a boat landing.

At the same time state forests and parks officers announced they intend to have a full-time manager assigned to the park to supervise its use, beginning this spring.

Dock to Cost $4,500

Most of the improvement money comes from the state highway fund and will be used to build new blacktop roads within the recreational area. Conservation department officials doubted the town roads now serving the neighborhood will be adequate to handle traffic that will be generated as the park area is improved and becomes more heavily used. Included in the road program will be a new bridge across a creek within the park.

There will be blacktop paving also for the parking area and that adjacent to the boat landing.

The boat dock will be financed largely through a gift of $3,300 from the High Cliff Forest Park association, a private group. The commission agreed it will provide $1,200 to meet the construction budget.

Roman Koenings, head of the state park system, said the boat landing will be the most important one on the north shore of the lake and will be heavily used. At some future time, he said, the state hopes to provide a yacht basin in the neighborhood.

Cuba Acts to End Misuse of Funds

Havana — Prime Minister Fidel Castro says his revolutionary government plans stronger measures for the misuse of public funds, including the death penalty.

Castro made the announcement last night at a giant rally in Santiago, his old rebel headquarters in eastern Cuba. Castro claims officials of former dictator Fulgencio Batista's regime stole millions of dollars in public funds.

In Havana, a navy tribunal acquitted 14 Batista naval officers accused of mistreating prisoners. Thirteen others were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 6 months to 12 years. The prosecution had demanded the death penalty.

Four more Batista followers who took refuge in foreign embassies were given safe conducts by the Castro government and left by plane last night for exile.

North Central Goes to Court To Assure Fox Cities Service

Litigation May Cause Long Delay

North Central Airlines has taken legal action to eliminate Eau Claire and Marshfield stops in giving Minneapolis-to-Chicago air service to the Fox Cities at Outagamie county airport.

Coupled with a delay in civil aeronautics board approval of the airline's request to serve the Fox Cities by way of an existing Green Bay route, the action could result in a lengthy delay in start of service, North Central says.

Seek Drive
Members of William H. Pifer's chamber of commerce airport committee, meeting Wednesday afternoon, acted promptly on an airline suggestion to "utilize every means . . . available to convey their feelings to the CAB in Washington."

Situation:
The CAB on Dec. 9 ordered North Central to serve a Minneapolis-Chicago route which includes stops in the Fox Cities, Marshfield and Eau Claire.

North Central on Jan. 9 filed a petition with the CAB, asking for reconsideration because, it said, it objects to the Eau Claire and Marshfield stops.

When the CAB turned down the reconsideration petition, North Central appealed to the United States court of appeals in Washington, D. C.

At the same time, it asked the CAB for permission to

President Gets Bill to Extend Draft for 4 Years

Washington — Legislation extending the draft law for four years was sped to President Eisenhower today by the house.

By voice vote and without debate, the house approved a senate amendment to a bill that passed the house last month. The amendment dealt with the pay of doctors and dentists in the armed services.

The senate passed 90-1 yesterday a bill extending the draft and related military manpower programs until July 1, 1963.

Only Sen. William Langer (R-ND), who has opposed the series of draft act extensions since World War II, voted against it.

The only senate change in the bill previously passed by the house was a 4-year extension of the extra pay for physicians, dentists and other medical specialists.

Doctors and dentists get $100 a month extra the first two years of military service, $150 extra for 2 to 6 years, $200 extra from 6 to 10 and $250 after 10 years.

Citizens Ask Approval of Airline Plea

A request to the civil aeronautics board to start air service to the Fox Cities at the Outagamie county airport April 26, is being sent CAB today after a meeting of citizens, county board airport committeemen, Appleton Taxpayers' association members and chamber of commerce airport committeemen Wednesday night.

The informal group voted to send the request for temporary authority and to ask Durfee and some of his experts to meet with the group on long range needs for an adequate airport for the Fox Cities.

Gordon Bubolz, in whose office the meeting was held, said today the committee intends to meet with CAB officials, state aeronautical commission experts, North Central officials and any interested citizens to determine just what improvements are needed at the present county airport. No date for the meeting was set.

Alvin Fulmer, chairman of the county board, said he approved of the committee idea, commenting "One mistake

Prosecution Halted By Restraining Order

Neillsville — Prosecution of a 17-year-old Mauston girl on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of her parents was halted today by a restraining order issued by Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss.

Counsel for Elizabeth Jane Dakin appealed Juneau County Judge William R. Curran's refusal to return the case to juvenile jurisdiction.

Senate Backs Bill, 76-15; Islands May Elect in Time For This Congress Session

Washington — The house was geared today to take final congressional action to make Hawaii the fiftieth state.

The senate voted 76-15 last night in favor of statehood for the mid-Pacific islands. The vote came after only one day of debate. Both Wisconsin senators voted for passage.

The sponsor of the house bill, Chairman Leo W. O'Brien (D-NY) of the territories subcommittee, said he was prepared to amend his measure to conform exactly to the senate - passed bill which had 56 co-sponsors.

House approval of a conforming measure would send the bill directly to President Eisenhower. His signature would pave the way for first state elections in time to seat two Hawaii senators and one representative in the house in this session of congress.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) today swung his powerful support to the Hawaii statehood bill.

He said the territory deserves membership in the union.

"My congratulations to Hawaii," Rayburn said.

"I opposed this bill in the past when I felt Hawaii was not ready for statehood. Now, however, the situation has changed and I welcome statehood because the territory deserves membership in the union and will be an asset to the United States."

Any variance between house and senate versions of the bill would require senate - house conferences and subsequent votes of concurrence.

Hawaii Celebrates
Rep. John R. Saylor (R-Pa.) pressed for an amendment to give Hawaii two house members. He said Hawaii, with about 600,000 population, is entitled to two representatives under the apportionment formula adopted by congress in 1941.

Gov. William F. Quinn, who appears destined to be the last presidentially appointed administrator of the territory of Hawaii, arrived in Washington by air last night too late to witness the senate vote.

At an impromptu celebration in the old supreme court chamber of the capitol, Quinn thanked senate leaders for their vote of confidence in Hawaii's people.

"Hawaii," he said, "has a destiny in the Pacific and a mission to accomplish. We are conscious of that mission and will do our utmost to carry it out."

News of the senate vote reached the islands at mid-afternoon and was greeted with joy. The Honolulu Star-

West May Submit To Summit Talks

Expect Allies Will Outline Plans For Conference in Note to Russia Later This Year; Study Strategy

Washington — (AP) — The western powers are expected soon to offer Russia the definite possibility of a summit conference later this year.

The major western condition for a top level meeting probably will be that an earlier conference of foreign ministers should make progress toward settling the Berlin crisis.

There is behind-the-scenes British dissent on this point, however. London leaders have informed other allied governments they believe that direct and personal negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have to be arranged sooner or later in any case.

The central strategy on which all the western powers are agreed is that negotiations must be employed to the fullest limit possible in order to overcome the danger that the Berlin dispute could eventually explode into a nuclear war.

Litigation May Delay Service

No Ground War

President Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday that "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe."

He declined under questioning to say flatly that the west would resort to nuclear war if Russia started shooting in Germany. But he did hold open that possibility, apparently for the deliberate purpose of warning Khrushchev.

"I think we might as well... all of us understand this: I didn't say that nuclear war is a completely impossibility," Eisenhower said at one point.

Diplomatic Front

While the press conference discussion concentrated on the dangers of an all-out conflict if the Berlin crisis were pushed to that point, administration officials said Eisenhower and all of his chief aides believe that Khrushchev will stop short of a military showdown if the west shows firmness and determination in defending its Berlin position.

On the diplomatic front, the next move is up to the west.

May Mean Long Delay

The exemption was sought, Frank N. Buttimer, North Central traffic and sales vice president told Pifer's committee in a letter, in order not to delay service to Appleton.

CAB approval has not been received and "since March 15 is the date for filing (summer) schedules, we are apprehensive that this will not be approved by this date and possibly not at all," Buttimer said.

"This," he added, "means that Appleton may face a lengthy delay in service while the entire route is litigated."

Buttimer also said that everyone in Appleton with whom he has talked agrees "Appleton should be on our main line and not on this 'back door' route as certified by the CAB."

"I want the people of Appleton to know," he said, "that if your city does not receive service on April 26, as scheduled, the responsibility rests with the regulatory authorities. We are ready to provide an initial schedule of two round trips a day to the community as of that date if we can get the nod from Washington."

Turkish Court Sentences Editor

Ankara, Turkey — (AP) — A special press court has sentenced an opposition editor to 18 months in prison for reprinting a summary of articles by U.S. publisher Eugene Pulliam and his wife Nina.

The court said the articles belittled Premier Adnan Menderes.

The court also fined the editor, Ulki Arman, $444 and ordered his paper "Ulus" suspended for a month. Arman is already serving a 1-year term for a previous press offense.

Hypnotism Is Medical Tool, Jesuit Says

Tells Hospital Group That Practice Can Alleviate Suffering

Milwaukee — (AP) — A Jesuit educator said Wednesday night that medical hypnotism, can alleviate needless suffering, cure stuttering and facilitate painless childbirth.

In addition, according to the Rev. John J. Higgins, professor of philosophy and education at Parks College, East St. Louis, Ill., medical hypnotism can speed recovery from paralysis and even grow eyelashes for a completely hairless individual.

Father Higgins, who has practiced hypnosis for 13 years as a psychologist and student counselor, spoke at a conference on improving hospital practice sponsored by the Wisconsin Conference of Catholic hospitals.

Hypnosis, he said, is a legitimate and effective medical tool which should be used by qualified professionals. He warned against charlatans and training schools which give courses in rapid induction, a swift type of hypnotism which he said does not induce deep enough trance to permit serious surgery.

Stuttering, he added, sometimes is just a bad habit and sometimes a subconscious act of aggression. In the case of paralysis, hypnosis can accelerate a victim's efforts to regain the use of muscles.

Sides Taken In School Board Financial Issue

Madison — (AP) — Representatives of labor and Wisconsin communities have lined up on opposite sides on a bill that take away the power of vocational school boards to levy a two mill tax to pay for part of their operations.

The spokesmen for the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, the Racine Taxpayers association and others Wednesday appeared at a hearing in favor of a bill that would limit the boards' powers.

The Federated Trades Council of Milwaukee and the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO opposed the bill, contending the law should not be changed.

The senate education committee is considering the bill, introduced by Sen. William Trinke, R-Lake Geneva, giving the complete control of a vocational board's purse strings to municipal governing bodies.

Ford Announces Plans to Offer An Economy Car

Detroit — (AP) — Ford Motor company has become the first of the big three auto makers to confirm it will build a smaller car.

The company said in a letter to stockholders yesterday that barring changes in the small car market, Ford will introduce an economy model sometime this fall.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler, the other two members of the big three, had any comment on the Ford announcement. Both have outlined company positions in previous statements.

The latest of these was Tuesday when L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, plant in Munster, Ind. last told a news conference in New York that Chrysler had a Forest, Ill., central division small car in the testing stage manager, said that as far as but had not yet decided he knew, the firm "has no whether to put it on the market."

Question Need for 30 NATO Units in Europe

Ike Says No Ground War; Why, It Is Asked, Do We Need More Land Forces?

Washington — (AP) — Twelve words from President Eisenhower may add difficulty to the Atlantic pact's long-sought goal of establishing 30 NATO divisions in Europe.

But those responsible for assembling the forces have a ready answer for the question raised by Eisenhower's remarks. It has been asked before.

The president told his news conference yesterday: "We are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe."

Gen. Lauris Norstad, the persuasive and personable air force man who is Eisenhower's latest successor as NATO supreme commander, has been pursuing the elusive 30-division goal for years. He is almost in sight of it.

Raise Question

But Eisenhower's comment seemed certain to raise in Europe the same question being asked around Washington: If he foresees no ground war in Europe, what is the use of having 30 NATO ground divisions?

Norstad's answer lies in the "shield and sword" concept underlying NATO philosophy since technological development outran the original NATO idea.

His argument is that the NATO ground forces—now totaling 21½ divisions, he has said—are a shield. The retaliatory nuclear powers of the United States, particularly its long range bombers and its developing missile capability, are the sword.

First Attack

The one blunts the enemy's first attack; the other thrusts back.

Norstad's chief problem long has been a psychological one. The general attitude of America's NATO allies is that (A) they are sick of war after two frightful experiences with it this century, and (B) if there is to be a third world war, they feel it would be fought primarily between the United States and Russia.

Under such circumstances the other NATO allies would rather spend more of their money rebuilding housing demolished in the last war, for example, than building up their individual arms to prevent another.

Kenosha Firm Denies Report It Will Pull Out of State City

Madison — (AP) — Ben W. Heineman, board chairman of the North Western railway said at a hearing Wednesday that he had heard that the Simmons company planned to move away from Kenosha but an executive of the firm said they "had no intention" of moving the rest of its operations.

Simmons transferred its so-called bed and mattress production from Kenosha to a new plant in Munster, Ind. last year, but Les Weyrough, Lake York that Chrysler had a Forest, Ill., central division small car in the testing stage manager, said that as far as but had not yet decided he knew, the firm "has no whether to put it on the market."

Seaway Tolls Announced by Canada, U.S.

Charges Less Than Those Levied on Panama and Suez

Washington — (AP) — The United States and Canada today announced St. Lawrence Seaway tolls designed to pay off the construction debt of the giant waterway in 50 years.

The rates are the same as those presented in tentative form last June. At the time, shipping circles said the tolls were somewhat lower than they had expected.

The charges are less than those levied on vessels passing through the Suez and Panama canals.

Open Next Month

The seaway, which cost about $451 million, will be opened to traffic next month. The minimum depth of the channel between Montreal and Lake Erie is 27 feet, nearly double the old 14-foot channel.

Under the toll schedule a ship moving through the entire seaway will pay 6 cents for each gross registered ton of the vessel. One registered ton is figured as 100 cubic feet.

In addition, a toll of 42 cents a ton will be charged on bulk cargo and 95 cents on each ton of general cargo.

For each passage between Montreal and Lake Ontario, the basic charge will be 4 cents per registered ton plus 40 cents on each ton of bulk cargo and 90 cents for general cargo.

First Time

Tolls also will be imposed for the first time on ships using the Welland canal which bypasses Niagara Falls between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

Vessels will be charged 2 cents for each gross registered ton plus 21 cents on each ton of bulk cargo and 5 cents on general cargo.

If a ship does not complete a transit of the canal, half the full toll will be assessed provided it passes through at least one lock.

Let Consumer in On Bargaining Sessions, View

Washington — (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley believes that the consumer should be represented in bargaining sessions between management and labor.

Wiley said in the senate Wednesday that he referred specifically to collective bargaining sessions by big industry and union leaders.

He added that these leaders seem to have wide discretion in determining the prices for their products.

As a check on the wage-price spiral, he said, the government might be authorized to have a consumer representative present at the collective bargaining sessions to keep the public informed and to express the consumer's viewpoint.

Husband Hires Counsel for Wife

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — Ernest Gurley has hired counsel for his wife, Beatrice, charged with seeking his murder.

"I love my wife," said Gurley, 45. "And I'm going to stick by her — even if it takes everything I've got."

Gurley makes $60 a week as a truckdriver. His 41-year-old wife was charged Wednesday with attempted murder after allegedly admitting she tried to hire someone to shoot him to death.

"She didn't know what she was doing," Gurley said, without any authority over "She needs a doctor's care."

Detective Jack Metcalf said Attlee, England's prime minister during the post-war period, said the U.N. has failed because member nations have refused to yield any of their individual rights.

Feud Between Nasser, Iraqi Leader Grows Hotter; Revolt Fails

Demonstration by Students Points To Ill Feelings; Fever Mounting

Damascus, Syria — (AP) — Damascus students of all ages demonstrated against Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem today as the feud between Kassem and President Nasser got hotter and hotter.

Taking their cue from Nasser's bitter speech yesterday, the Cairo press branded Kassem a communist agent.

Young school girls in black and white uniforms hoisted big UAR flags and marched to the presidential residence where Nasser is staying. One small pupil with pink ribbons tied to her pigtailed classmates in chants denouncing Kassem and proclaiming Arab solidarity.

Older students also converged on Nasser's headquarters as anti-Kassem fever mounted.

Cairo papers pinned the hero label on the slain leader of the brief, abortive army revolt in Iraq, Col. Abdel Wahab Shawar.

"The world," said Al Ahram, "has witnessed the true face of Kassem, another face of (former Iraqi premier) Nuri said, a distorted continuation of Nuri and a paid agent just as Nuri was."

This was a pointed reminder of the days before Kassem's forces overthrew the pro-western Nuri and killed him. In those days the west had its money on Nuri and Russia was backing Nasser for the leadership of the Arab world. Now the communists were on Kassem's side and Nasser was blasting them.

Sharp Split

There was a sharp split between the communists in Iraq and Moscow, however. The Iraqi reds accused Nasser of fomenting the revolt. Moscow was trying to blame the west, but the Soviet propaganda did not appear to be having much effect on the disputants.

The United Arab Republic government protested meanwhile to Iraq about the reported attack by Iraqi fighters Tuesday on the Syrian border village of Hamoudiya. The planes had been reported strafing villages in north Iraq where rebels were believed to be, and there had been speculation they strayed over the frontier. The Middle East news agency reported a house was destroyed in Hamoudiya.

In Baghdad, crowds hanged the president of the United Arab Republic in effigy and blamed him for the brief, unsuccessful army revolt against Kassem in northern Iraq.

Says Pioneer IV Could Have Been Tracked Further

Pasadena, Calif. — (AP) — The army's moon shot, Pioneer IV, could have been tracked for 700,000 miles if its battery-powered transmitter had not failed.

Robertson Stevens, manager of the Goldstone Tracking station on California's Mojave Desert, based the estimate on signal strength shortly before the rocket lost its transmitting power 407,000 miles from earth. It is now reported in orbit around the sun.

Originally, Goldstone was reported capable of tracking only to 400,000 miles. Its range will be extended to 40 million miles next year and to four billion miles in 1962.

These Days 'Ban God From Schools' View Angers Sokolsky

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
New York — One of the crosses that a columnist bears, and there are several, is that when he writes something that displeases another fellow, he is an ignorant galoot. Once an editor pestered me about a novel which he enjoyed but which I found to be a bore.

Sokolsky
To avoid an unpleasant discussion I blurted out that I have no time for novels, whereupon I got into a worse discussion on how ignorant one is who does not read novels.

Another time, I mentioned something about Hebrew and received a letter from a reader questioning my knowledge of that language. Should I write him a letter telling him how many languages I can read? Perish the thought!

Now I have a letter from Mrs. Greta M. Beach of the Pittsburgh Ethical Society who wants me "to find out something about the ethical position." I do not know Mrs. Beach's age, but my memory of ethical culture goes way back, perhaps as much as 50 years. I often listened to Dr. Felix Adler, the founder of this sect. I listened to other ethical culturists, among them Dr. Paul Abernethy, at the Madison Street house.

Sent to Germany
Dr. Felix Adler was an exciting personality. His father was rabbi of New York City's Temple Emanuel, then the leading synagogue in the United States. Felix was born in Germany and was sent to Columbia University. It was anticipated that he would succeed his father as rabbi of Temple Emanuel.

He was therefore sent to Germany to study in the Hochschule fur die Wissenschaft des Judentums in Berlin and afterwards to Heidelberg where he received his doctorate. He was deeply influenced by Hegelian philosophy which then prevailed in Germany and corrupted even stronger men.

Temple Emanuel would not have him because of his extremely radical views on religion and on social questions.

He thereupon went to Cornell University to teach Hebrew and oriental literature, but a professorship was inadequate for his great energies, whereupon he founded the Society for Ethical Culture in 1876.

The fundamental conception of this society is that right living is possible independent of religious or other dogmatic views. He organized a school along these theories. His influence on education, particularly during the 1880's and 1890's, was significant throughout the United States.

Not Cult
Ethical Culturists do not regard themselves as a creed or a cult. Members may belong to any religion they choose or none at all. Originally, most Ethical Culturists regarded themselves as agnostics, but in recent years, they have tended more and more to be a humanistic cult with a distinctly primitive Christian approach to moral problems.

Mrs. Beach says: "We believe in the complete separation of church and state, which means that no religion whatsoever shall be something about the ethical position." I do not hold with the compromise.

Religious Bootlegging
Translating this into less polite language, what Mrs. Beach objects to is the possible bootlegging of religion by dedicated teachers. It is all right for a teacher to inject something of his particular brand of religion as just another 'little bit' that he hopes no one will notice.

The cult of God-haters grows stronger and stronger in this land which faces great perils from within than from without. Our generations are being weakened in the very schools to which we send them for education and for character building.

Metropolitan Sewer District Extensions

A bill has been offered in the Wisconsin legislature to give the Wisconsin Public Service commission jurisdiction over the cost that may be charged to property owners in territory to be annexed to a metropolitan sewerage district. The bill seems a perfectly proper one and should receive favorable action.

Many years ago Wisconsin learned there are questions which are better handled by a commission with a staff of experts than by a court with possible decisions by a group of citizens in a jury box.

The annexation of new territory to a metropolitan sewerage district is comparable to the extension of service to new territory by an electric, gas or water utility. Many of the same questions are involved such as who is to pay for the extension, how much and what is to be charged for the service, or how much must the new customers pay for the use of the central plant and toward the general overhead. Obviously the new members must pay something if they are to take over and use a part of the equipment which was originally supplied or paid for by others.

Usually there is a certain period of bargaining between those in a new territory and the representatives of the new district. Such disputes may drag on for a long time and eventually end up in the courts. In the end little is gained by either side and much time may be lost. The measure provides for direct dealing between the district and its new customers, but in the case of disagreement the Wisconsin Public Service commission may be called upon for decision. In the meantime, there need be no delay. The work could go on with the final decision left in the hands of the WPS.

All this bill does is to give more jurisdiction and more work to the commission but it is work that body is well equipped to handle. There should be no difficulty about it and in the end it should prove economy for all concerned.

Support the Red Cross

The annual Red Cross drive is upon us. As President Eisenhower put it the other day, March is Red Cross month. In every county across the country people will be asked to make a contribution to this very worthy organization. In Outagamie county the goal is $33,870. It is far less than one dollar per capita and considering the tremendous service given to this and other communities by the Red Cross it is a real bargain.

In the peaceful quiet of the Fox river valley, people have perhaps less need of the Red Cross than the people in many other communities. But so broad and so deep are its services that this community could not exist without it. If we did not have it we would have to organize something to take its place.

One of the great services of the Red Cross is that given to disaster victims. The help to those victims is direct and it is necessary but it is almost as meaningful to the other communities called upon to give as it is to those receiving it. If it were not for an organization like the Red Cross, there would be great confusion and a duplication of efforts and finally a waste of funds. This is avoided by the Red Cross which brings to each disaster problem years of experience and know-how that are as valuable as the gifts themselves.

Last year the Red Cross of Wisconsin spent $298,647 to help the victims of the Wisconsin-Minnesota tornado of June 4, 1958. Of this sum $132,554 came from a special disaster fund and $166,092 out of the regular campaign fund.

The Red Cross also serves as a liaison agent between the men and women in the armed services and the people at home. This is possible because the Department of Defense and the citizens both have confidence in this agency. Families in every community have benefited.

Everybody in this county is well aware of the value of the Red Cross and it should be sufficient only to announce that the drive is on to secure a favorable reception for its solicitors.

What Can be Done for Alcoholics?

The Wisconsin Council on Alcoholism says there are about 100,000 Wisconsin citizens suffering from alcoholism and asks the legislature to set up a program to meet the problem. Since, as the council suggests, about five other persons in an alcoholic's family or otherwise associated with him are adversely affected by each case of such illness, the problem is one of importance.

Every community has its share of alcoholics. A committee of the Brown county board of supervisors recently examined a list of 35 names of persons who had been in and out of the county's reforestation camp from three to seven times in 1958. Most of them were in such poor health as to be of little value as camp workers. The supervisors indicated that something should be done about these alcoholics but did not indicate what unless it be that they may be sent to state prison for longer terms as repeaters.

The futility of sending these men to jail or to reforestation camps over and over again for being drunk must be quite obvious. It may be too late to do much for most of these derelicts but some of them could be helped, and an efficient program would be directed at new recruits since early treatment is important here as it is with most diseases.

The council is proposing a governor's commission on alcoholism to make a complete objective and scientific study of "the incidents of alcoholism in Wisconsin, the quality and quantity of existing treatment facilities, and findings as to the methods of achieving more efficient use of Wisconsin health, welfare, religious, legal and other services in combating the problem."

The council points out that 41 other states have programs which may demonstrate the practical dollar value of a scientific attack on this problem.

The council warns out of its experience that the institution of a state program will not immediately solve the problem. However, it says that a more efficient utilization of existing counselling and treatment facilities would reduce the great waste that now characterizes alcoholism in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin has a long way to go before it can reduce the number of recruits to the ranks of the alcoholics below the number of deaths among them. The death rate there is high. Although much is being done to improve treatment and rehabilitation practices many weary years of hard work lie ahead. But no one can disagree with the council's statement that "to do nothing is extravagantly wasteful of money and life."

What Others are Saying

Knowledge of Democracy May Reduce Number of Turncoats

From The Christian Science Monitor

One out of every three Americans taken prisoner in Korea collaborated with the communists. Only two out of 229 Turkish prisoners of war were similarly beguiled.

These are not the terms in which the American public first learned to its dismay — and then passed quickly over — the behavior of American troops in Chinese prisoner-of-war camps.

"Brainwashing" was the popular excuse given for the surprising number of Americans who cooperated with the enemy far more than international law required, or, for that matter, than the communists themselves were prepared to insist absolutely.

Why the Turks so admirably resisted them and American army men succumbed so easily is a question that the army should not be left to answer alone. It strikes to the heart of the practice of democracy.

The communists didn't use physical violence to any great degree to achieve their ends. They were masters of the power of suggestion. Through various guises they obtained first little concessions from the prisoners and then progressively larger ones. Those who drew the line at the start had a tough time of it, but a greater percentage of them survived and they were left comparatively alone.

The tendency of some army experts who are thoroughly familiar with the prison camp history is to lay a large share of the blame on lack of discipline — whether in army training or at home.

It is difficult to dispute this when the figures show how the tightly knit Turks — and our own marines — continued to be bound both by military discipline and comradeship. It proved their salvation.

But there is also the startling fact that many of the young soldiers knew so very little about both democracy and communism that they could be won over to communism so easily. The communists played upon every weakness not yet eradicated under the democratic system — the discrimination against the Negro, etc.

This should be a reminder that the democratic system so hard won by our forebears must be constantly improved and practiced and its shortcomings must not be cynically tolerated for reasons of individual self-interest.

As for the disciplinary side of the Army, the new code of conduct should be of some help. Knowledge of what a potential enemy will attempt in this age should also be a tremendous advantage in conquering the plague of fear.

People's Forum

Wants to Know Why Proxmire Needs That Big Office Staff

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A great deal of space has been donated by this newspaper, and many others, to the attacks made by Wisconsin Sen. Proxmire against Sen. Johnson of Texas. I suggest that this newspaper reserve an equal amount of space in the near future to the answer to be given by Sen. Proxmire as to why he needed 83 office employees on his payroll the last six months of 1958 and why his total office payroll for the year ran over $100,000.

It should require quite a bit of space to explain why a senator requires such a fantastic amount to hire people to answer the phone for him, read his mail and carry out other such tasks. It should require quite a bit of space to explain why he, Sen. Proxmire, requires three or four times that of some of his colleagues, many of whom are from far more populous states.

Of course I'm not really serious. The senator will probably not even condescend to reply to the newspaper story, which is a typical attitude of many public servants today. He probably feels responsible only to the party politicians, the backstage manipulators and not the great mass of the people whom he is supposed to represent.

The irony of the situation

No Change in Letter Policy

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I detect with regret a decline in your editorial policy. I refer to your publishing letters in the People's Forum signed very anonymously such as "Civic Minded," and "Edison Family." Certainly such learned writing demands identification.

Looking Backward

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 14, 1880.

The New York Tribune sent James Redpath to Ireland not long ago to make thorough reports on the situation there.

The extent of the loss of potatoes were two-thirds of the crop. The number of persons in need of assistance to preserve life is set at 250,000. About $13 million will be required to avert starvation only until the next crops are gathered. This includes nothing for fuel, clothing or medicine, only the bare necessities of life.

Can you neglect to give to the relief fund? Can you excuse yourself and stay away from the great relief meeting to be held at Bertsch hall on Wednesday, March 17?

A collection for the Irish relief fund was taken up in the Catholic church in Kaukauna after mass on Sunday.

Under the Capitol Dome

No Radical Changes In Conservation Setup

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—There can be little doubt, among those who have watched attentively, that Gov. Gaylord Nelson is earnestly concerned about developing a better state conservation program and a more effective conservation department administrative machinery.

Wyngaard

But the public reactions to his conservation commission reorganization bill thus far suggest that he will have a good deal of trouble convincing the body politic that his intentions are earnest.

The public discussions thus far have exposed several weaknesses in the governor's drive for conservation commission abolition and recreation, of a strategic kind.

There is manifestly no overpowering public desire for the scuttling of the present commission, or even the present commissioners, for one thing. Either the governor was lax in failing to muster his own supporters at the public hearing the other day, or his plan has few public supporters. For the effect of the hearing record was to suggest that among the best informed conservationists there is a general desire to maintain the proved machinery of the last three decades.

LOGIC

But the governor's assertions also pose logical difficulties — even for the listener who is at once a friend of the conservation program and resolved to give the new Democratic leader of the state a fair hearing.

He told the legislature in his personal appearance that a basic weakness of the traditional system of choosing commissioners is that a Republican governor is bound by the nature of politics, to name Republicans and a Democratic governor feels equally obligated to name Democrats. Thus great numbers of worthy and conscientious conservationists are barred from consideration.

But that is not necessarily so. Republican governors have passed up Republican claimants, from time to time. A Republican governor once named one of the most powerful of the Democratic politicians to a seat on the commission, in fact. Another more recently called for the services of a distinguished professional who had no remote connection with the partisan political system.

To some listeners the governor seemed to be confessing that he wanted to name non-partisan commissioners, but didn't feel free to do so in the context of his own Democratic partisan position. That is scarcely a convincing point to that earnest supporter of natural resources management who recognizes the peril in a precedent permitting a governor to toss out the conservation administration every time there is an upset at the polls.

PROGRAM

Gov. Nelson is evidently disturbed about what he describes as a lack of imagination in programming and planning. Others may share his apprehension. But he is now entitled under the law to name two commissioners. If they are good men, given the atmosphere that now prevails in the capitol, they will have a marvelous forum for more imaginative program projection. Given the backing of a popular new governor, and with the immense publicity forum that is the commission, they would be in a position to take over control even if technically constituting a minority.

The administration conservation reorganization bill will be extremely difficult to write into law, if it is indeed possible. In the end, it may be guessed, the governor will be required to proceed as all other governors have had to under the rules established in 1927. It seems highly improbable that public opinion will back up a radical reorganization. The Wisconsin public that has been so responsive to the "conservation issue" doesn't seem ready to throw out the baby with the bath water.

Nelson Says State Sure to Have Sales Tax

From The Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter

Gov. Gaylord Nelson, in a speech at Milwaukee this week, said that he is sure that Wisconsin "will ultimately have a sales tax."

He added that if his citizens tax committee presents a proposal "which I think is an equitable proposal I'll sign it."

The governor is a peculiar individual so far as taxes are concerned. We believe that he really was surprised by the result of the November election. Throughout the summer campaign months he kept talking about the state's financial problems and how he could solve them.

Suddenly he was elected, and he presented a single year's budget — because he didn't know anything about the state's financial problems and had nothing to offer for their solution.

Sole Beneficiary Of 14 Children

Madison — P — William Walker, one of 14 children of the late John H. Walker, was named as sole beneficiary in his father's will.

The elder Walker, who left a $100,000 estate when he died at the age of 89, said in his will that William had worked with him for many years and was largely responsible for the size of the estate.

Lawrence Says: Gives Proxmire Credit for Policy Stand

Opposition to 1-Man
Rules Has Exposed Party Weakness

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — When Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, Democrat, says that the Democrats, with their two-thirds membership in the senate, are not functioning as a majority that is representative of the people, he is exposing a serious weakness in the American system.

What the Wisconsin senator criticizes in his second speech of a series is the way policy is determined by the Democratic party in the senate. He says:

Lawrence

"The cold fact is that Democratic policy in the senate is made entirely on an ad lib, off-the-cuff basis. The initiative as well as the final decision is almost always resolved by the majority leader himself on the basis of his own judgment of what is desirable and what is possible."

Individual Factor

"This is not to say that the individual Democratic senator doesn't play a part in determining policy. His individual vote and whatever influence he may have that goes beyond his individual vote is a factor in the majority leader's calculus. But it is the majority leader who does the computing of the possible."

"And the critical point is that he does it without the over-all conscious guidance of senate Democrats either in caucus or in policy committee. It is my position that this is an unnecessary delegation of responsibility by Democratic senators. In the vast majority of Democratic legislative bodies throughout this country and the world, no such delegation is found necessary for action."

What Proxmire is describing is a system of 1-man rule. The job of a majority leader is indeed concerned with reconciling conflicting views so as to arrive at a consensus.

Beneficial to State

Many a senator finds that his re-election may depend on whether he gets through the senate certain legislation that benefits his state. If the majority leader doesn't look with favor on a senator who bucks the views of that leader on other subjects, the end result might be blocking the bill and ultimate defeat for the senator who stood up for his convictions.

It was never intended by the founding fathers that the two senators who represent a sovereign state would be subject to the rule of a single senator from some other state; on whether a particular piece of legislation shall be pushed to passage or left to wither on the vine.

Rebellions against 1-man rule in both houses of congress have made the front pages in past history. The revolt against Speaker Joe Cannon, Republican, in the house of representatives in 1910 was hailed as an expression of progressive spirit.

Led to Defeat

It led to an overwhelming defeat of the Republican party in that year's election—their first loss of congress in 16 years.

It is evident that few members of the senate dare to criticize the leader. They prefer to acquiesce in a code of expediency lest they lose favor with the man in control. Yet, privately, many senators do concede that some bills are kept buried in committee or delayed till the final days of a session when they can be rushed through or defeated, as the case may be, without much debate.

Totalitarian Approach

The drift seems to be toward the totalitarian approach. Bossism is applauded nowadays as merely skillful or masterly leadership. This session of the senate, moreover, has seen a trend toward the curtailment of debate and a tendency to allow one man to run the majority party.

Election of United States senators by popular vote—instead of by state legislatures, so as to overcome boss rule in those legislatures—was proclaimed as in line with the Democratic process when the 17th amendment was adopted in 1913. Yet few people who favored this amendment ever thought that 1-man rule in the senate could nullify the wishes of a whole state and block consideration of measures submitted by one state to the other states for approval or disapproval.

Woe Wisconsin, Beauteous State; Rich in History, but No Laureate

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

This may come as a fearful jolt to everyone, but Wisconsin—which has so many good things—does not have a poet laureate.

We have had such lyrical citizens as Carrie Jacobs Bond who wrote elegantly about coming to the end of a perfect day but not once have we ever had a poet laureate.

The job of laureate always is an honorary one. It would not cost the state much money, if any, and it seems to me that the members of the legislature should worry more about our lack of poets than about some of the things it does, like budgets and tattoo artists.

House laureate are not essentially difficult. A good one, however, must be able to sit him down and scribble an ode without ever dropping a distich. He should be blessed with the artfulness to write a ditty upon command, and upon specified subjects.

If our basic laws are to be applied to the appointment of a P. L., the rest should be fairly easy. He must live in our state for one year. Then he must live within a certain precinct for 40 days. Then he must register. After this he can accomplish the title by two ways. The first and perhaps the easiest is to get himself appointed by the governor.

Another Dandy Way

The second way is for him to become elected governor and then appoint himself poet laureate.

In either case Wisconsin, which is the nicest state of all, is entitled to the free, honorary services of one of its poetical brethren.

Who is there to sing lovely phrases about our fields and our sylvan forests, our noble red man, our rolling hills and sweet valleys? Suppose Gov. Nelson awakened one morning to find himself needful of a quivering quatrain which would stir the electorate into accepting a new form of taxation? Where could he turn?

No Lilt in Taxes

No—John Wyngaard would decline in good, round terms. And the governor's public relations staff is not qualified to turn out a lilted epic which is also good enough to rhyme, too. The subject is too difficult because tax rhymes with 'axe, and it is too soon for that sort of thing.

Clearly, the need is for a poet laureate. We have ever so many able poets in our state. None would decline the honor, I'm sure.

Any person designated by the governor as poet laureate of the sovereign state of Wisconsin would increase his output of poetry and his income of funds. Most of us would rather purchase the works of Wisconsin's poet laureate than that of, say, the bartender at Schmidt's place. It all adds up.

Our own Eben Rexford wrote "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and there are numerous persons presently in our state who are worthy and able. My own nomination—and seriously, too—would go to a fine lady—Mrs. Angus Look-around.

The poet laureate job indicates a poet worthy of bearing the muses crown of laurel. England customarily appoints a poet laureate and if my recollection serves it's a lifetime assignment.

Serious Note

His general task is to write lasting poetry for state occasions, and sometimes too on a historic event. Now and then England's poet is asked to prepare a rhapsodic word melody in honor of the visiting dignitaries. I do not mean like this:

Here is your pome.
Yankee, go home.

I mean something that stirs the blood and echoes down through the years.

In England, the custom of appointing a king's laureate dates to Edward IV (1461-1483). In those early times it was requisite only to write a poem once a year, and that was always in honor of the king's birthday. If the king lived to be 90, the job might be a little hard, but a real poet can find a chord in a piece of hemp.

The quality of England's laureates is not to be scoffed at, for the job was held by such notables as Jonson, Southey, Wordsworth, Tennyson, Austin, Robert Bridges and John Masefield.

20 State Poets

Twenty of these United States have a poet laureate. One state—Nebraska—has a poet laureate who is living poetically perhaps but ungratefully in Missouri.

Even little, Old Mississipp-

Ask Extension Of Jobless Pay Period in State

Madison — A measure to increase from 14 to 18 weeks the period in which eligible unemployed Wisconsin residents could collect jobless benefits was introduced in the state assembly Wednesday.

The bill was offered by the joint finance committee and has the endorsement of the state advisory committee on unemployment compensation, a body representing management and labor.

The proposal also would extend from the present 14 weeks to 18 weeks the period for qualifying for jobless help. Under this arrangement a worker would have to be on the job for 18 weeks in order to qualify for payments if he became jobless.

The assembly received a resolution aimed at eliminating the present two consecutive term limits for sheriff. The proposal by Assemblyman John Gray, D-Antigo, anything better than heavy machinery, m u s k e l l u n g e, constitution, a necessary step in removing the restriction.

Japs to Use Weasels to Reduce Mice

By Rene-Georges Inagaki

Tokyo —(U)—Lacking a Pied Piper of Hamelin, Japan is planning to raise an army of weasels to fight a mice population estimated to equal the number of humans on these islands—some 90 million.

The forestry board was allocated $20,000 to build a center—at a still unspecified site—for breeding weasels. The board will start with 200 female and 100 male weasels. "We know through experience that wherever weasels were released, mice damage to saplings and crops are reduced," a board official said. A female weasel produces an average of four young a year.

Gradual Reduction
"Eight hundred weasels a year may seem like a small number," the forestry official said. "However, the weasel has the instinct to destroy every mouse in sight although it may only devour two or three a day. We don't expect the weasels to exterminate the mice, only to stem their growth and gradually reduce them."

The official said the big problem will be to prevent hunters from killing the weasels.

Japan's mice population has grown to dangerous proportions because of a reduction of their natural enemies—ferrets, owls, foxes and hawks—through indiscriminate hunting. The mice chew the roots of young planted trees and damage 33,500 acres annually, an estimated loss of half a million dollars. The forestry board estimates mice damage to crops is even higher.

One problem still to be hurriedly overcome is the traditional Japanese belief that a house without a mouse is a sign of poverty.

Credit Tightened For Inflation Fear

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A couple of days ago, the powerful Central bank of the United States tightened the credit screws again.

The federal reserve system did this by boosting the interest rate it charges the nation's banks for loans from the system.

Thereby it gave the signal to its member banks to charge more for loans they in turn make to you as a business man or as an individual consumer and it set the stage for another round of borrowing rate increases up and down the line.

Why? This is a strong anti-inflation step. Why this move at a time when unemployment is uncomfortably close to 5,000,000 and a governor of the federal reserve board openly admits the high level of joblessness is "a social, political and economic problem" today?

The answer is of immense importance and it is imperative, for your own bread-and-butter welfare, that you understand it.

The first key point is that the Federal Reserve system is not fighting actual, serious inflation in our economy today.

For there isn't any actual, serious inflation in our economy now. Inflation implies sharp price rises in a short period, pressures on materials and manpower, and these trends have not been dominant for some time.

More specifically, the prices we pay at retail for food, most major products, have been holding steady in a comparatively narrow range and there have been few big upswings in other price areas.

There's lots of excess capacity in many lines of industry and most corporations could turn out more goods if the demands were present. There are no signs that consumers are taking off on a buying spree, no signs that business will boost its spending on new plants and equipment for some time. The auto industry from the dollar, and it is hardly booming, housing isn't in a runaway advance.

High Unemployment And then there is unemployment, dismayingly high in some key areas. And even in regions which are prospering, there is proper worry about the general economic impact—as well as simple, human meaning—of millions of jobless at this stage of a business advance, and of no prospect for a big drop in the totals until the economy is considerably boomier.

No. Regardless of what you may think the white house is saying about inflation or how you interpret the repeated warnings of leading Washington policy-makers, actual inflation is not our problem today.

What, then, is the explanation for the tightening of the credit screws at this date?

The answer is that the federal reserve system is trying to fight a psychology of inflation—a spreading conviction among increasing numbers of businessmen and wage-earners that prices and wages soon are going into another leapfrog upswing and the dollar is doomed to lose buying power rapidly and steadily.

Behind Buying It is this psychology which has been behind much of the indiscriminate buying in recent months. In a sense, this buying has represented a flight from the dollar, and it is reasoning, it is dangerous, it is destructive. It is this psychology which has caused investors to be indifferent to new U.S. government securities—even those bearing coupons giving the buyer 4 percent interest a year, a whopping big return on U.S. government securities by all historical precedents of the past quarter-century. It is this psychology which sober analysts fear may lead to unsound increases in wages, prices, wild buying.

Reserve board chairman Martin has stated flatly the "inflationary tinder" of inflation is "all around us" and the speculative psychology so clearly evident in our land could spark an inflation blow-off at any time. He has said that only proper public and private actions could avert this blowoff.

Thus the tightening of the credit screws. It is a signal that the reserve system in tends to fight aggressively the psychology of inflation, that it is determined to get in position to combat inflationary forces themselves whenever they emerge. It is a warning to all to act with caution.

Cookie Sale by Girl Scouts Now Underway

Orders Accepted For Local Delivery Around April 18

Kaukauna—Girl Scouts and Brownies from the Kaukauna-Combined Locks neighborhood district began a house to house sale of cookies this afternoon, money from the sale to be used to develop and maintain the camping program and a portion of it to be retained by the troop.

Girls take orders for five different types of cookies which will be delivered to homes about April 18. Scouts must turn in completed order cards to the troop chairman by March 19. Money for the cookies will be collected at the time of delivery.

Mrs. Vernon Josie, chairman for the neighborhood sale, will also have charge of distribution on the north side of Kaukauna. Mrs. Donald Lappen will serve as chairman for south side distribution and Mrs. John Kamps will have charge of the distribution in Combined Locks. Serving as cookie chairmen are:

individual troops are Mrs. EMMY LOU Glen Noland, Mrs. Ray Krueger, Mrs. Victor Anderson, Mrs. Gerald Vils, Mrs. Robert Beauprand, Mrs. Fred Ludke, Mrs. John Rieth, Mrs. George Wynboom, Mrs. Elwyn Schroeder, Mrs. Robert Grissman, Mrs. Elmer Vanden Heuvel, Mrs. Urban Wildenberg, Mrs. John Opsteen and Mrs. Joseph Evers.

Persons not contacted for cookies but interested in helping the Girl Scout program can call any of the troop cookie chairmen to place orders. Some of the proceeds from the sale are returned to Kaukauna in helping to maintain Camp Winnecomac in the city.

"Alvin is so unreliable. I told him I never wanted to see him again and he hasn't been around since!"

235-595 Lead K of C League

Individual Honors Shared in Business Loop at S and B

Kaukauna — Dick Dockendorf slammed a 235 game and Dave Kilgas rapped a 565 series to share individual honors in the Knights of Columbus Bowling league at S and B alleys.

Team honors were won by Hartjes electric with a 938 game and 2,731 series. Hartjes and Schmidt Oil each won two games while Norb Hennes' won three to have the three teams tie for first place with 18-9 records. Modern Shoe lost two and now trails the leaders by one game.

Other high scores were posted by Al Schmidt, 553; Don Lappen 585; Dan Dunphy, 594, and Dick Dockendorf, 563.

St. Patrick Day Dinner Party Planned by Elks

Kaukauna — Plans have been completed for the annual St. Patrick's dinner dance to be sponsored by the Elks club at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Elk clubrooms.

Tickets for the affair must be purchased before Friday night to permit adequate food preparation. Entertainment will include quartet and community singing after the dinner followed by an evening of dancing to the music of a local orchestra. St. Patrick's day favors will be distributed.

Kaukauna — Four Kaukauna high school students have been selected to participate in a Student Congress to be held March 20 and 21 at city hall in Milwaukee, according to Howard Fenske, forensic coach.

Purpose of the congress is to give students an opportunity to speak and take part in actual legislative matters, according to the coach. About 14 schools are expected to send students, two of whom are classified as representatives and two as senators.

Each student is to introduce a bill to the house, will support his bill through arguments and then debate and discuss the bill with representatives of other schools. Voting will take place on the bill, following governmental procedures. Other schools will be sent bills in advance to permit students to study and take views on the issue.

Representing Kaukauna will be Elaine Asman, Bridget Brenzel, Dwight Bastian and Thomas Verhagen. The four comprised the A debate squad during the past season.

High Scoring Games in KAA Tournament Action

Kaukauna — High scoring games highlighted action in the second round of the Kaukauna Athletic association tournament Wednesday night as the Kaukauna Athletic club downed Beren's Clothing of Kaukauna 126 to 97 and the Kewaunee Chiefs defeated the Menasha Merchants 108 to 69.

The Athletic club team had little trouble with the Berens, a team composed of high school seniors from Kaukauna and surrounding areas, as it outscored the losers in all but the final frame. The winners held a 36 to 20 first period lead and increased the margin to 61 to 42 at the half-way mark.

Going into the final frame the winners had built up a 98 to 69 advantage and then matched the 28-point effort of the losers in the final period. The winners had six players in double figures with Dick Verbeten hitting 32 points and Gerry Hopfensperger hitting 28 to set the pace. Four of the losers figured in double scoring column with Rocky Jersild leading with 27 points followed by Tom Geerts with 18.

The Menasha Merchants had trouble getting started while the Kewaunee Chiefs showed consistent scoring to win the second game of the night. The winners jumped off to a 22 to 12 lead at the end of the first period and led 59 to 29 at the half as they dominated play throughout most of the second quarter.

Menasha matched the winners point total in the third frame but trailed by 30 points, 78 to 48, going into the last quarter. The winners scored 59 points in the first half and duplicated its point total in the second half.

Carl Kuehl paced the winners with 35 points followed by Ron Dart with 22 points. Scoring for the Merchants was evenly divided with Dick Rohe hitting 17 points while George Raleigh and Neil Haacks each added 15.

A preliminary game at 8 p.m. will match the Holy Cross grade school team against a team made up of fathers of grade school players. Fathers will have the opportunity to show the younger generation how they starred in bygone years.

Tickets will be sold at the door with no advance sale planned.

A field trip, according to Mrs. Clarence Schlitz, leader. The girls have been preparing for fly-up ceremonies in May by modeling the intermediate scout uniform. A finger game has been played to learn tenderfoot requirements.

A skit is being prepared for the annual father-daughter banquet in April.

Kaukauna Mayor Feels Area Plan in Danger

Works Director in Appleton Accused of False Statements

Kaukauna — Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon Wednesday took issue with a statement by Edwin J. Duszynski, Appleton director of public works, who claimed Kaukauna and Kimberly had received special work and considerations from the regional planning commission. His ideas endanger the future success of planning, said the mayor.

The commission has never been asked for any special consideration by Kaukauna and has done no specialized work for the city, according to the mayor. Kaukauna contributes annually to the support of the regional planning idea in the belief it is for the public interest of the Fox Cities, he continued.

The Appleton director referred to special benefits to smaller communities but in the true spirit of regional planning, smaller and larger municipalities do not exist, stated Bayorgeon.

The director of public works for Appleton indicated he would prepare a counter proposal for the consideration of the regional planning commission, indicating what Appleton wants in the master regional plan to be drawn. Kaukauna also will submit a list of its wants in the master plan and other communities should do the same, suggested Bayorgeon, but the wants of Kaukauna will be those which will benefit the entire regional concept rather than the city alone.

Municipalities must stand together and work together if the master and regional plan is to succeed, said Bayorgeon, but the attitude and statements by the Appleton director pose a serious threat to the idea of regional planning.

Bayorgeon stated, he would like to see the Appleton works director list some special favors received by Kaukauna from the regional planner rather than speak in generalities with no basis in fact.

196 Game Sets Pace In Couple's League

Kaukauna — Ethel Mitchler rapped a 196 singleton for the only honor count posted in the Southside Couple's league at S and B alleys.

Team honors went to Bill Mitchler's with a 353 game and 900 series. Mitchler's won two games to maintain the lead with a 284-104 record while Walker's held second with a 26-13 mark.

Gov. Williams Asks Boost in Debt Ceiling to meet the tight financial pinch include the mortgaging of the state's $50 million veterans trust fund, a 1 per cent increase in the current 3 per cent state sales tax and a graduated state income tax.

Williams has maintained the income tax proposal is the fairest method of raising needed funds. Republican leaders say Williams income tax proposal would exempt many lower bracket earners and place the burden on middle and high income groups.

The veterans trust fund was established in 1946 by the legislature to provide emergency assistance to state veterans of World War II. It was amended in 1953 and 1954 to include Korean war veterans. Under the act, interest money on the fund can be dispensed by a board of trustees.

Legislature Split

Michigan's political picture is complicated by the fact that the house is split exactly even between Democrats and Republicans, while the Republicans hold a substantial edge in the senate.

Recent weeks have seen both parties making moves in the house in efforts to break the financial deadlock but until yesterday, neither side was able to muster enough votes.

The legislature has pared Williams' budget recommendations for fiscal 1957, 1958 and 1959, budgeting $238 million for 1957, $341 million for 1958 and $332 million for 1959. Also rejected were Williams' new tax proposals resulting in a deficit spending course over the period.

Williams submitted a $424 million general fund budget Jan. 30 and asked for a new $140 million tax program to finance it.

Currently, the state is delinquent more than $15 million in appropriations due its three major state supported universities. Next week the state will find itself $36 million in arrears in payments to school districts.

Williams ordered drastic cuts in state spending. State Controller James Miller estimates some $5 million will be saved by June 30 through the cuts. But Miller said much of the amount is deferral of outlays that will have to be made later.

Later Closing Hour for Bars Gains Support

Madison —A bill extending tavern closing hours in Wisconsin received strong support Wednesday at a public hearing conducted by the senate governmental and veterans' affairs committee.

The lone objection was voiced by a United Temperance Movement spokesman who said the extension would create a traffic hazard in the state's resort areas.

Ernest C. Parish, Wisconsin director of the movement, said most resort taverns are located in the country, making it necessary for patrons to drive some distance to their homes after closing.

Sen. Rueben LaFave, R-Oconto, co-sponsor of the bill, rejected that argument, saying Milwaukee county, which already has a later closing hour, does not have a higher traffic toll than the state average.

The bill would permit 2 a.m. closing during months when daylight saving time is in effect. Municipalities would have the option of permitting the later hours.

In all counties except Milwaukee taverns must close at 1 a.m.

Claim Imitation Dairy Products Mislead Public

Madison —Fancy advertising and packaging of imitation dairy products are misleading many consumers, a Wisconsin dairy industry spokesman charged before the senate agriculture committee.

William Eckles, representing the Pure Milk Products cooperative of Fond du Lac, made the remark at a public hearing on a bill that would segregate natural and imitation dairy products in retail stores.

Pressurized can dispensers containing whipped dessert topping were passed to committee members by Eckles. He said one contained "whole-some, nutritious dairy product," while the other was a "cheap imitation made from some sort of vegetable fat."

The bill would prohibit display of imitation dairy products within 20 feet of natural products showcases.

House Set to Vote Hawaii's Statehood

Bulletin rushed out an extra edition, and radio stations interrupted programs to broadcast the news. Preparations were rushed for celebrations and fireworks displays in anticipation of house passage today.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnson proclaimed a 2-day holiday to start the moment the houses passes the statehood bill.

Opposition in South

In the senate action, southern Democrats accounted for 14 of the 15 dissenting votes. The lone Republican opponent was Sen. John M. Butler of Maryland.

Chairman Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) of the senate territories subcommittee, senate floor leader for the bill, said the senate's action in approving the measure within two weeks after the completion of a committee hearing set a record for major legislation.

However, he said, no one could accuse the congress of acting hastily because Hawaii statehood bills have been before congress for 40 years.

Hawaii, once an independent 20-island kingdom, was annexed to the United States voluntarily in 1898 and became an incorporated territory in 1900. It is the only remaining organized territory since the admission of Alaska.

Exuberant Hawaiians air-expressed 600 leis to Washington for members of congress today after the senate passage of the Hawaii statehood bill.

Holiday Proclaimed

The appreciative offering of flowers was sent to Territorial Delegate John A. Burns, who will present them tomorrow on behalf of the Hawaii legislature.

Acting Territorial Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a 2-day holiday throughout the islands to start immediately after congress completes passage of the bill.

His proclamation said passage of Hawaiian statehood would mean the culmination of patient striving and the long-nurtured hopes of Hawaiians.

Senate passage of the bill yesterday was greeted joyously. After receiving the word by telephone from Washington, Johnston exclaimed: "It's wonderful news!"

In anticipation of the house completing approval of the measure, preparations were rushed for fireworks and celebrations. Hawaiian Airlines, the inter-island line, planned to fly flags with 50 stars and flash the word to its pilots in flight for passengers' information.

Senate approval was hailed by politicians, businessmen and civic leaders. The Honolulu Stock Exchange reacted with the heaviest trading in months with some issues rising as much as four points. Usually languorous island folk reached a fever pitch as the 40-year fight for statehood appeared nearing an end. That's about all people talked about in offices, restaurants and on the street.

The luxury liner S. S. Lurline sailed from San Francisco Wednesday with a huge, unofficial 50-star flag aboard — to be unfurled when congress completes action.

Also aboard the Lurline were giant redwood logs, pre-

Chong, who was 62, was an immigrant who had many thousands of friends throughout the world.

His showiest restaurant, Lau Yee Chai on famed Waikiki Beach, still is a show place—but operated by other owners. It is world famed among tourists and servicemen for more than two decades.

Girls From 7 to 17 Help With Varied Hometown Projects

BY SUSAN NOYES
Post-Crescent Society Editor

A state of mutual admiration exists between members of the Fox River Area Girl Scout council and the communities in which they live.

For scouts ranging in age from 7 through 17 are lending their eager services in a myriad of hometown projects.

It may be Brownies fashioning cuddly soft toys for a hospital's children ward, Intermediate Scouts helping a mother give a birthday party or Senior Scouts gathering material for a League of Women's Voters "Get Out the Vote" campaign.

Quick Capable Response
Whatever the project, on individual or troop level, adults within the council's borders have learned that a call for scouts' services will be answered with a quick response — and the task carried out capably.

Working for community betterment has long been an aim of girl scouting. Here, in the Fox Valley area, badge work in this field has become increasingly important and is stressed from the fledgling efforts of young Brownies in elementary school to the budding adult capabilities of Senior Scouts in high school.

Mrs. James R. Whitman, Appleton, is the council's community service project chairman. It is through her that requests for aid are channelled to troop leaders. Working with her are professional variety shows or fashion ornaments for Christmas trees at the City Home.

An outgrowth of the scouts' interest in community activity was the setting up in 1957 of two programs—the leader-in-training and the program aid plans.

Two New Programs
Both programs are aimed at the Senior Scout whose troop level interest often drops off at entrance into high school. Both plans stress individual efforts within the troop scouting framework.

Program aid candidates begin training at the start of senior scouting — usually at the age of 15 when they are in ninth grade. In a 10-week course, they learn games, songs, dramatics, crafts and outdoor skills, and at the end, Turn to Page 2, Col. 6

Your Problems

Woman Told to Change Jobs to Keep Self Respect

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a dance instructor, 24, divorced, attractive and must work to support myself and my child.

It's part of my job to be interesting to the male students and to a c company them to night spots so we can practice with a variety of bands. I also go to private parties with my students as a "date" although I'm paid by the hour. (The studio gets half.) In this way, the student gets to try out the new dance steps and "show off" among his friends. It gives him confidence.

I make good money, but my work day is often 14 hours long. It sounded glamorous at first but now I'm fed up and exhausted. The worst part of it is I've become emotionally involved, with several students, and I'm ashamed to admit most of them were married men.

I'm not trained for any other work and can't afford to be unemployed. My apartment rent is high and I must wear good clothes. But I'm having trouble holding my head up among decent people. I know this sort of life leads nowhere. Please no sermons, Ann, just give me some workable advice.—Glamorous

Dear G. Fuss: A girl who goes to night spots and private parties and is paid for her time can call herself a "dance instructor" if she wants to, but others may have different labels. You say you aren't trained for any other work. How did you train for this?

If you honestly want to hold your head up among decent people I suggest you get out of that conga line and look for a decent job. You may not make as much money, it may mean a less not-so-fancy duds but you'll have a happier and more secure life. And who knows, you might even meet a single fellow who has marriage on his mind instead of the cha cha cha.

DEAR ANN: I need help badly.

I've been married six years, and we have two wonderful children. My parents and in-laws live in another city. Both my mother and mother-in-law must think I'm a moron. Ever since I married they've showered me with tons of unwanted "helpful" articles.

My mother-in-law is devoted to her church and insists on swamping me with church literature. She refuses to accept the fact that I am happy with my religion and not interested in a change.

My mother is just as bad. She sends me every scrap on child-rearing she can find (if it supports her position).

She's against punishing children. I believe in spanking children who write on walls and wantonly destroy things. Please tell me how to end this flood of unsolicited and unappreciated junk. — Tired of Advice

Dear Tired: This is the first time anyone has written for advice on how to duck advice.

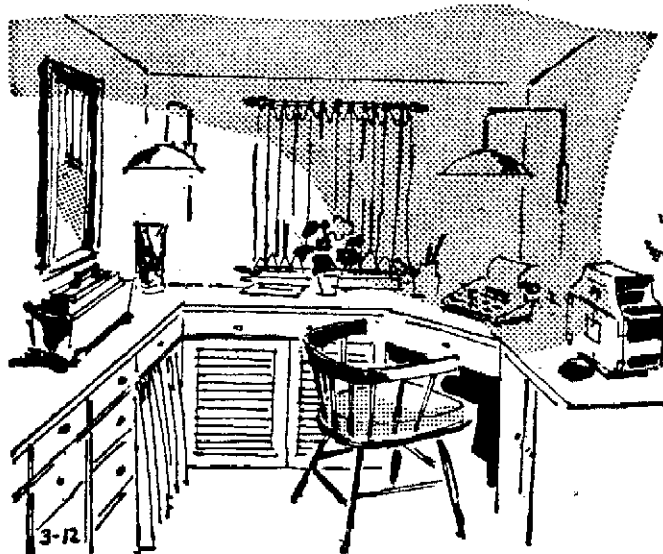

Simply remove the "junk" from the envelopes and transfer it to the circular file (wastebasket). No comment is necessary. This will spare their feelings and keep your blood pressure down.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A group of us girls at the office were discussing a wedding we attended recently. The bride carried a bouquet of winter wheat. Have you ever heard of this? Is it proper? Please reply in your column. We are laughing ourselves sick. — The Bonnie Belles

Dear Belles: The bride chooses her own bouquet and she can carry skunk cabbage and turnip greens if she wants to. You laughing hyenas don't happen to be single, do you?

So Much Convenience in So Little Space

Here's a fascinating example of just how much storage and counter top convenience can be installed in hardly more than an odd fragment of space. In this little corner, with every inch of wall in use, there's more put-away accommodation than in many full rooms, and a dressing table and a desk are included in the line-up of drawers and two sets of floor-deep door compartments.

Not these space-makers ideas: A single color for all the furniture units and the walls, the monotone idea again at work to fool the eye into believing that there's more room than there is; the desk top surface widened by angling across a corner; good lighting that hangs on the wall so it requires no counter top space. And the curtains stretch on a second rod at the bottom of the window so they won't flirt with idle breezes and drift across the usable top of the lowered door compartment. (Copyright, 1959) are qualified to be called on as part-time assistants in these activities by troop leaders.

Scouts Work At Many Projects

After serving as program aids for one year, they can take the leaders-in-training course, which entails ten more hours of classes. Emphasis is placed on administrative work; the girls keep records, plan programs and are encouraged in leadership responsibility by working with patrol groups.

Assigned To Troop At the end of the leaders-in-training course, the young women are assigned to a troop which has as a leader a woman who has taken a basic group leadership course, has led an outstanding troop program and who will qualify as an understanding supervisor to the troop.

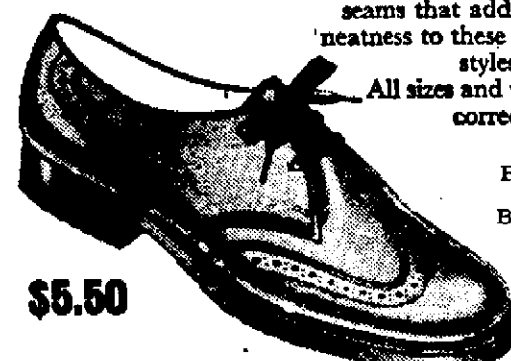

Virtue of this LIT program, as it is called by scout leaders, is that girls, 17 years of age, can qualify one year younger than required as assistant leaders.

Five Senior Scouts have now achieved the LIT status. They are Sharon Renier, Jane Owings, Sue Richmond, Mary Ann Arndt and Ginger Springer. Program aids number seven. They are Sue Beckman, Carla Krabbe, Maryann Grienier, Carol Sullivan, Pat Vice, Sue Adrian and Carol Dvorschek.

Ignore Teasing Sisters, Patri Tells Young Man

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Could you please write something about sisters picking on brothers? My sister never misses a chance and she always does it before other people. If I answer her back my mother always says, 'Don't talk that way to your sister,' but she never says anything to her. Some day I'm going to smack her one." Don't smack her. Ignore her. Laugh at her. Silence in the face of "picking" is good medicine. Laughter is even better. Smacking is out between brothers and sisters. A boy never smacks a girl, not even his sister who picks on him.

Some sisters have a trick of this teasing. They seem to want to belittle their brothers in any way possible. It may be a form of jealousy, since some girls go through a period of wishing they were boys, and to ease their feelings of injury they belittle their brothers.

Sometimes girls do better in school subjects than their brothers do and this gives the envious sister her chance to "down" her brother.

Discipline Needed

What is one to do? The girl deliberately struck out at her brother. She should learn that this sort of thing is not tolerated in the family. She should be sent from the room then and there and when she cools off — and when her father or mother or both, have calmed down — be told why she is wrong and in what light it places her.

Boys are not blameless in this. They, too, "pick" on their sisters and for the same reason, jealousy. The daughter of the house is usually favored in such battles. Both are often at fault. A good rule to set is that the one who started the argument is to blame and to be banished for the cooling off period.

Parents need not be too distressed about this. Few adolescent brothers and sister grow up without some battling.

ting. Usually, under discipline, this stage passes. But discipline, authority, guidance, are required lest this "picking" leave permanent scars.

In Good Taste

Mother Has Problem on Manners

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a son who is just learning to talk and I have been teaching him to call our friends Mrs. Jones, Mr. Greene, etc. I was taught to call my parents' friends by title and wouldn't think of calling them by first name. Today, however, all of our friends and neighbors permit their children to call everyone by first name regardless of their age and they think me terribly old-fashioned and tell me that I am making my child stilted and snobbish by insisting he call older people by title. I certainly don't want my child to be considered a snob and yet I do want to bring him up properly. Am I being too strict in this present day of informality?

Answer: I cannot approve of the growing trend of permitting children to call grown people by their first names.

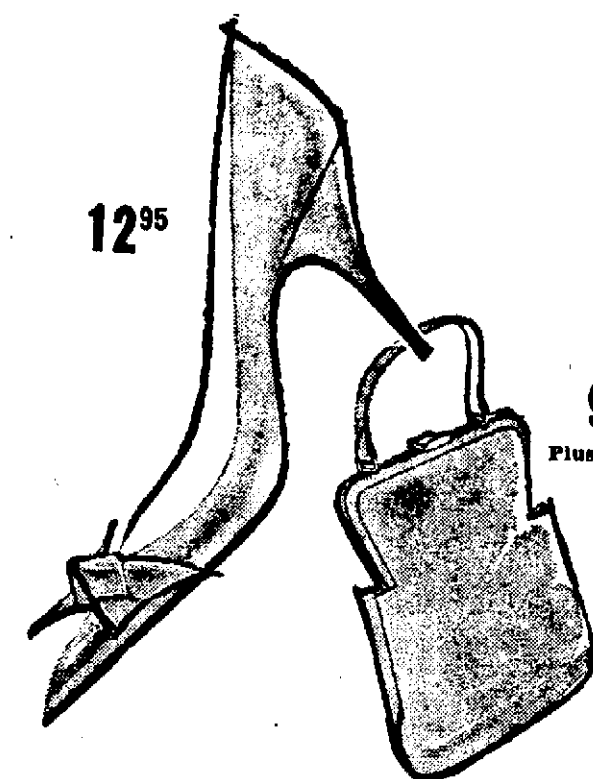

Graduation Exercises

Dear Mrs. Post: The faculty and student committee at our new high school are formulating policy for graduation exercises. It is a co-educational school. Seniors will wear caps and gowns and are anxious that the academic procession be proper. A few of the schools in the vicinity have a tradition in which the girls carry two dozen roses. There seems to be some doubt in our minds as to the correctness of such a procedure. Will you please advise us on this matter.

Answer: It will be more dignified and will avoid any possible suggestion of a musical comedy scene if the girl students do not copy the tradition of the schools you mention.

Hadassah Speaker Tells of Romanian Emigration to Israel

Mrs. Louis Frankel, Chicago, member of the national board of Hadassah, spoke at the Tuesday meeting of the Hadassah at the Moses Montefiore social center.

She discussed the crisis resulting from emigration of Romanian Jews into Israel. Approximately 100,000 are expected to enter the country.

The Romanians are highly cultured. There are many artists and professional people among them who will enrich Israel to a great extent said the speaker.

Although Israel is small, it is in need of this type of people in its extensive industries, she said.

Israel has three main cities, Tel-Aviv, which is the most modern and is comparable to New York city; Haifa, built at the base of Mount Carmel which is also cosmopolitan, a harbor and port, and Jerusalem, which is a combination of the ancient and modern.

One of the most predominant aspects of Israel is the attempt to give everyone an education. All children must attend elementary school for training. There must be complete literacy.

Mrs. Jack Weiner, the vice president, presided. Mrs. Curtis Brown gave the prayer and committee reports were given. Mrs. Irving Krichmar, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Hostesses were Mrs. Abraham Sigman, Mrs. Joseph Shiff and Mrs. Jacob Winnig.

House Unit Backs Larger Park at Antietam Battlefield

Washington—(AP)—The Antietam national battlefield at Sharpsburg, Md., which commemorates the Civil war's bloodiest battle, comprises only 138 acres. But, on Sept. 17, 1862, when 23,110 men were killed or wounded at Antietam, the actual battlefield had 1,938 acres.

The interior department thinks the memorial park ought to be as large. The house interior committee agreed yesterday and authorized the purchase of the 1,600 additional acres that were part of the actual battlefield.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

Most less-than-expert players seem to feel that they must hang on to the last trump for grim death—that they are safe as long as they keep that card. Unfortunately for themselves, the exact opposite is often true. For example:

The bidding (rubber bridge):
North East South West
1 D Pass 2 S 4 H
Pass Pass 4 N T Pass
5 H Pass 5 N T 6 H
Pass Pass 7 S Pass

West had two difficult objectives when he bid six hearts—to sacrifice, of course, but also to prevent North from showing two kings (if he had them) in response to South's five-no-trump bid.

South thought for a long time before he bid the grand slam, and he would have been wise to settle for a small slam—assuming that West did not sacrifice further. However, if South had played the cards skillfully, his aggressiveness would have paid off.

West opened the heart king. South won with the blank ace, cashed six of his seven trumps, carefully saving one, and then, seeing only one chance, tried to run four diamonds. When East turned up a stopper it was all over—South had to give up a club trick.

Even without adverse bidding, the odds were strongly against a 3-3 diamond break, and with the bidding that took place, that break was even less probable. In any case, however, what did South expect or hope to do with his last trump? Did he think it would take two tricks if he held it? The strange fact is that it would have taken two tricks, in effect, if he had laid it down before touching diamonds. East forced to one more discard than he actually had to make, would have to give up his stopper in diamonds or blank the club king.

Brown County Suburbs Fight Annexation Bill

Proposal Would Allow Circuit Court
To Rule on Petitions for Attachment

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Suburban town officers of Brown county are joining many others in Wisconsin in fighting a League of Wisconsin Municipalities bill to set up an alternative annexation procedure for cities and villages.

The league bill would provide a second avenue for annexation through city petitions to circuit courts asking for a referendum on the annexation of a particular area. Objections could be heard by the court, and the court could hold hearings. If the court orders a hearing, the decision would be made by a majority of the electors in the area who vote in the referendum.

Hearings Held
Hearings on the measure have been held by the senate committee on veterans' and governmental affairs, headed by Sen. Leo P. O'Brien of Green Bay, which also handled the bill two years ago when the league was unsuccessful in sponsoring it.

Among the opposing witnesses were officials from the towns of Preble and Howard, near Green Bay. Representatives of several of the larger cities of the state, including Madison, Milwaukee and Waukesha, urged approval of the league proposal.

Among other hostile witnesses were officials of the Wisconsin Towns association and the Wisconsin Towns league, a new organization representing some of the rural towns of Dane county resisting Madison annexation efforts and the campaign to reorganize the Dane county board to afford more urban representation.

Fresh Snow
Expected in Fox Cities
More snow is scheduled to arrive in Wisconsin tonight and Friday but weathermen won't say, as yet, how much is to be expected.

Meanwhile, a driving snow storm slashed at the north-eastern section of the nation today, moving eastward from Ohio and making highway travel treacherous. As much as 8 inches of snow were reported in sections of Indiana, Ohio and Maryland.

The Wisconsin snow will enter the state from the west. Snow was reported falling in LaCrosse this morning. The general movement will be toward central and eastern sections, with the main force of the fall expected by Friday afternoon or evening.

Heavy ground fog this morning hampered travel in much of the Fox Cities area. The fog moved in on roads around Lake Winnebago by 7 o'clock Wednesday night and continued to grow in intensity through the night.

The highest temperature recorded in Appleton Wednesday was a pleasant 35. The overnight low was 17 and the temperature at 10 o'clock this morning was 29.

Board Studies Addition for Golf Clubhouse

Successful Youth Center Will Need
More Room in Fall

The park board Wednesday agreed to study construction of an addition to Reid Municipal Golf course clubhouse.

The addition was suggested by Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover to meet space demands of the successful youth center operation when it is put in the regular recreation program next fall.

Grover's attitude toward the youth center was the first expression by a city official on the success or failure of the youth center.

The center, he said, was so successful during the early part of the trial period, which ends April 1, that he feels he will need more room when the center reopens after golf season in the fall.

Boon to Pro
The addition, said Arthur W. Jones, board secretary, could extend the pro shop's storeroom wall to a position even with the porch. At the same time, the porch could be enclosed.

Board members agreed the work, estimated at considerably less than $10,000, could be done by park board employees during slack time.

To pinpoint exactly what should be done, the board will inspect the clubhouse at 1 p. m. next Thursday.

Board member William H. Wachtendonk said enlargement of the pro shop area would be a boon to the club pro. It's always been far too small, he said.

No Inquest Into Train-Car Death, Coroner Rules

No inquest into the Monday train-car death of Robert Maloney, 17, 631 E. Calumet street, will be held, Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said today.

Kemps said a statement taken from Kenneth L. Snodgrass, 39, Milwaukee, engineer of the train, indicated the Chicago and North Western passenger train was going about 50 miles an hour at the Ballard road crossing when the car driven by Richard L. Patrick, 17, 330 N. Sidney street, Kimberly skidded into it.

"We were a little behind schedule. I saw the car when we were about 150 feet from the crossing. My fireman rolled down the window and looked back. I made a service stop (not a sudden, emergency stop) and backed about half a mile to the crossing. We walked to the scene and the ambulance had left with the injured," Snodgrass told Kemps.

Kemps said he will ask the state public service commission to order installation of automatic signals at the crossing, now marked by warning signs.

Patrick was released from Appleton Memorial hospital Wednesday. He was not seriously injured. Patrick remained in the car. Maloney was thrown from it in the crash.

Non-Profit, Non-Sectarian

Children Sing, Play, Learn in City's First Cooperative Nursery

BY BETTY KILICH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The teacher strikes a melody on the piano, 17 giggling children stop their play, put toys neatly away, troop over to the piano and settle down for a story.

They quietly listen while their teacher leads them through amazing, imagination-provoking bookland, then pick up their snow suits and boots and begin the struggle to dress themselves for the cold outdoors.

The youngsters, ranging in age from 3 1/2 to 5 years, meet for several hours three mornings each week and, interspersed with all the fun of playing together, learn how to dress themselves, how to respect their toys, how to hang up their clothes and other responsibilities of childhood.

They don't know it but the children are participating in the first venture of its kind in Appleton — a cooperative, non-profit, non-sectarian nursery.

Began in January

In the talking and planning stages for about six months, nursery sessions began in January in the Sunday school rooms of First Methodist church, the most useful rooms the mothers could locate.

Sessions for the Appleton Cooperative nursery, owned and operated by parents, last from 8:45 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. each Monday, Wednesday and Friday under the gentle direction of Mrs. Mary Gri-nier, a kindergarten teacher in Appleton public schools for many years. She is helped each morning by at least two mothers.

The cooperative effort between teacher and parents helps to introduce the children to broader group life and to exercise their talents at an early age," parents point out. "These activities, together with committee work and parent education meetings, enrich both the family and the community."

The nursery is not a glorified baby-sitting pool, parent participants are quick to emphasize, nor is it a play school. It is a nursery, run for the educational and social benefit of the child during which he learns to play with others, to share with his playmates, to respect his elders and to help himself in as many areas as possible.

Dress Themselves

As soon as the children arrive, for instance, they must take off their outer clothing themselves as much as possible. If a particularly difficult button can't be conquered, of course, one of the mothers is on hand to help overcome the problem.

A typical morning's sessions include supervised play, group activity, finger painting, singing, pasting, story-time and a 15-minute rest period. Youngsters also are served a fruit juice and cracker snack by mothers, but the children must clean up their own places when they've finished eating.

Licensed by the state department of child welfare as a nursery, the organization has decided to limit its enrollment to 20 youngsters each semester. The school year is mapped out according to the public school year and a tuition fee of $6 per semester, or about $1 per session, is charged each child.

The fee goes to paying the teacher (she is on a salary scale equal to the pay received by a public school substitute teacher for a comparable amount of work,) to pay for the educational and social benefit of the child during which he learns to play with others, to share with his playmates, to respect his elders and to help himself in as many areas as possible.

Permanent Equipment

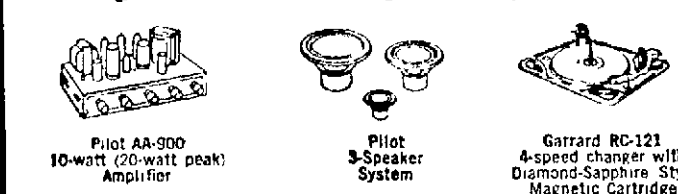

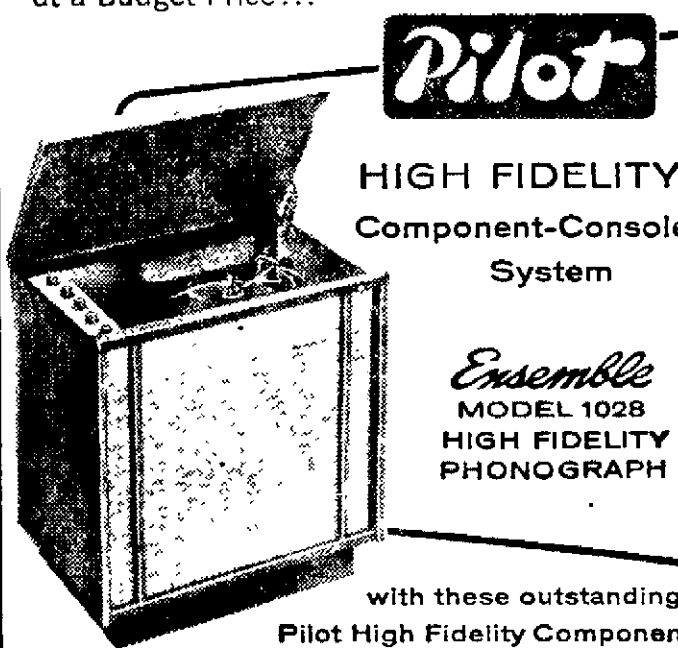

Already the first piece of permanent equipment has been purchased, mothers proudly relate — an indoor gym set so youngsters can work off excess energy on the climbing bars. Parents now are eyeing a set of big kindergarten blocks.

Health requirements are strict. Before he is accepted, each child must be provided with a physician's statement saying the youngster has been inoculated against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and smallpox. Each mother must show proof that she has received a chest X-ray in the last year.

Little Chance Of Park on Indian Land

Idea Gets No Backing
By Federal Officials,
Menominee Leaders

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The idea of acquiring some scenic sections on the Menominee Indian reservation along the Wolf River for a public park is seemingly doomed.

Reports from Washington are that federal park officials are cool toward the idea of approving such a project for U.S. government park purposes.

Meanwhile Gov. Gaylord Nelson reports here that the state's difficult financial situation makes any move for state acquisition impracticable.

Stated Interest

The governor has repeatedly expressed his interest in the idea, not only as a means of guaranteeing the preservation of outstanding scenery for the use of posterity, but as a means of contributing economically to the welfare of the Menominee Indian tribe which is preparing for the termination of U.S. government controls soon.

Perhaps as significant as a deterrent as any other development is a showing of coolness by the tribal leaders toward the informal proposals for using some of the tribe's lands for public recreational purposes.

Tribal Statement

The tribe's negotiating and coordinating committee noted that "early purchase of choice acreage for state park purposes has been proposed in some public statements," and then added:

"This could well cut the heart out of the Menominee estate.

Purchase would remove such lands from economic productivity for the tribe and from the local tax base which is already slender, it was pointed out.

Letter From Ike Suggests New Cabinet Position

New York — President Eisenhower once said he would like to see a new cabinet post of vast power created — a sort of super secretary of state.

He made the suggestion a year ago, in a letter to a friend. He said his choice for the post was Sec. of State John Foster Dulles. Life Magazine Wednesday published an excerpt from the letter, along with other private letters of the president. The recipients of the letters were not identified.

Eisenhower favored calling the new post "The First Secretary of the Government," and entrusting to the man who held it the direction of seven major federal agencies in their dealings with international affairs.

The White House declined to comment on the letters.

Eisenhower said creation of the post would be his "ideal organizational change."

The new cabinet officer would be responsible to the president, Eisenhower wrote, and "Would be relieved of the chore of meeting with committees and long hours of detailed discussion and argument — he would be given time to think."

Hoist Heifer Out of Underground Cave

Blacksburg, Va. — Farmer Nolen's prize heifer was back to her normal life of grazing on a Montgomery county farm Tuesday after being hoisted from a 25-foot cave.

Since Sunday, when the ground she was grazing suddenly gave way, the white-faced cow had been wedged between two huge rocks — uncomfortable but apparently unharmed.

Yesterday an auto wrecker, after much slipping and sliding, finally hoisted the frightened heifer over the ledge and onto firm footing once more.

Varied Concert Given During AHS Assembly

Music ranging from classical to jazz was featured in the concert given by the Appleton High school orchestra for an assembly program this week. Directing the 57-piece orchestra was Russell Thorne, new to the AHS faculty this school year.

Jazz numbers were performed by an ensemble consisting of Mike Finnegan, Dick Kloehn, and Thorne.

Shooting at Thief More Expensive Than Actually Being One

Union, N. J. — Shooting at a thief around here can be more expensive than actually being one.

Candy store Proprietor Donald Caskey took a few shots at a man he said was stealing his magazines.

He was promptly hauled into magistrate's court where he paid $150 for discharging a firearm within township limits, in violation of an ordinance.

Charles Koenig, 25, was picked up later. Police say his car had two bullet holes in it and the magazines were inside.

Koenig paid $75 on a petty larceny charge.

Meat Supplies Higher Now Than Last Year

But Prices Also High on Most Cuts;
Chickens Continue as Excellent Buy

Despite high Appleton prices, meat supplies are higher this year than in 1958, a report from the U.S. department of agriculture indicates.

The report shows beef cows and calves gained 1 million over last year, hog slaughter will be higher, sheep and lamb slaughter is expected to rise and broiler-fryer chicken marketings are expected to be around one-tenth higher. Egg production is increasing seasonally toward its spring peak and probably will continue above 1959.

However, prices on most meats—chicken is the leading exception—continue high. Most cuts of beef remain in the luxury class, while pork is not as cheap as predictions of a few months ago.

Appleton Prices
A sampling of Appleton prices shows rib roast from 79 to 89 cents, sirloin tip roast at 95 cents, beef rump roast at 95 cents, round steak from 79 to 89 cents, pork steak from 49 to 55 cents and pork chops from 69 to 89 cents a pound. Frying chickens from 33 to 39 cents a pound are an excellent buy.

Eggs are an extremely good buy at 49 cents for a dozen Grade A large. In case you wonder what department of agriculture standards are, a dozen large eggs must weigh 24 ounces, a dozen medium eggs must weigh at least 21 ounces, extra large must weigh at least 27 ounces per dozen and jumbos must weigh 30 ounces a dozen.

Still leading as top vegetable bargains are Idaho potatoes at 10 pounds for 59 cents and Wisconsin at 10 pounds for 33 cents.

Good Buys
Other good buys are broccoli at 29 cents a bunch, cauliflower at 29 cents a head and carrots at 15 cents a bunch.

Considered moderate to high priced are cucumbers at 10 for 59 cents, about a cent 29 cents apiece, radishes at 6 apiece higher than last week, cents a bunch, spinach at 29 cents a pound, red and green meat variety are two for 29 cents a pound, lettuce at 23 cents a head, green and wax beans at 29 cents a pound.

Heavenly Antics Seen In Appleton

A bit of heavenly horseplay last night titillated a host of citizens from Salt Lake City to Miami, to Appleton, but astronomers pooch - pooched the whole thing.

Laymen saw what appeared to be a bright star perched atop the slim new moon, looking much like the design of Turkey's flag.

In Appleton, the moon and the star appeared sharp and clear at various hours starting about 6:30.

Newspapers were flooded with telephone calls.

"Is that the Russian rocket," asked one excited caller?

Not at all, various astronomers agreed. It merely was the planet Venus flirting with the moon, while the planet Mercury lurked in the background.

Technically, the phenomenon was caused by the conjunction of Venus, Mercury and the moon between the earth and the sun. The planets, of course, are millions of miles apart and Mercury may not be visible, even though it has a hand in the proceedings.

The phenomenon isn't rare, astronomers said.

Out of season but available in limited quantities are asparagus at 39 cents a pound, rhubarb at 29 cents a pound and sweet corn at 10 cents an ear.

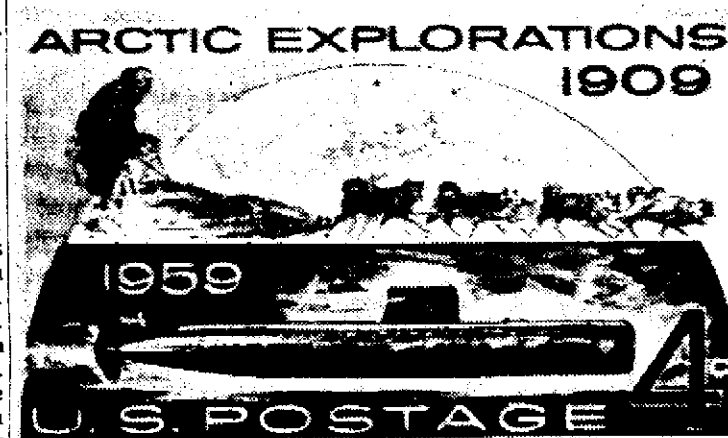

It's oranges, apples and pineapple that are leading on fruit counters this week — as they have almost all winter.

Pineapple
Pineapple is said to be an excellent buy at 33 cents apiece.

Apples available now are Delicious at 17 cents, Winesaps at 18 cents and Rome Beauties at 20 cents a pound.

Temple oranges from Florida are an excellent buy at 49 cents a dozen, while Valencias from California, an eating variety, range from 49 to 79 cents a dozen, depending on size.

White meat grapefruit are high priced are cucumbers at 10 for 59 cents, about a cent 29 cents apiece, radishes at 6 apiece higher than last week, cents a bunch, spinach at 29 cents a pound, red and green meat variety are two for 29 cents a pound, lettuce at 23 cents a head, green and wax beans at 29 cents a pound.

Wisconsin Will Test Candidates' Power

Presidential Primary Will be Show of Strength Between Humphrey, Kennedy

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Washington — Behind the scenes, the pre-convention fight for the Democratic presidential nomination is rapidly coming to a high, rolling boil. The score over the weekend was: One much-discussed candidate probably eliminated, and one blood-stained and vital primary probably assured.

Johnson candidacy, he would be leading the Johnson parade. Instead, after talking the matter over with Johnson at great length, Rowe has finally joined the campaign apparatus of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

In the circumstances, the choice made by Rowe is a considerable event. Nonetheless, there is still greater meaning in the prospect of a nice, old-fashioned, knockdown, drag-out Wisconsin primary. This also emerged from the weekend rally at Milwaukee.

Past History
The past history illuminates the Wisconsin primary's importance. In brief, the Democratic hierarchy in Wisconsin has been divided for months in its views about 1960. Gov. Gaylord Nelson is pretty solidly committed to Sen. Humphrey. One or two members of congress, like Rep. Henry Reuss, are also leaning to Humphrey. But Sen. William Proxmire is committed to no one at all, and in the higher reaches of the Democratic State committee, there is a good deal of sentiment for

Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts. high command became convinced that Kennedy in fact possessed a commanding lead in Wisconsin. At any rate, the Humphrey forces, working through Gov. Nelson, caused the round-robin letter scheme to be abandoned, after the letter had already been drafted and circulated. An effort was then made, again through Gov. Nelson, to ward off a Wisconsin primary by getting up a favorite son slate of delegates, to be ostensibly pledged either to the governor himself or to Sen. Proxmire.

Wisconsin looms, then, as one of the two really critical tests of strength between Hubert Humphrey and Jack Kennedy. The other can be expected to occur in Oregon. In Oregon, moreover, no candidate can prevent his name from being entered.

Convinced of Lead
The scheme for this round-robin letter ran into difficulties, however, because a series of soundings showed that Kennedy was considerably stronger in Wisconsin than Sen. Humphrey.

Asks Extra Fee for Out-of-City Golfers

Park Board Says Others Fear the Idea

An extra charge for out-of-city residents who play Reid Municipal Golf course this season was suggested at the Appleton park board meeting Wednesday.

William H. Wachtendonk, board member, said it is evident the Outagamie county board will not build a county course and the Reid layout is overplayed each summer.

Oshkosh last year, he reported, instituted an extra charge for out-of-city players.

Other board members were apprehensive, reporting that inquiries at a recent state convention of park and recreation officials showed most officials claim the idea isn't good.

Dr. R. R. Lally, another board member, said the fact that the course is open to all gives county people a chance to learn to play.

This, he said, is most apt to eventually force the county to construct a course.

When the city course gets so overcrowded county people find themselves turned away, action will come, he said.

Plamann park would be a natural site for a golf course, Dr. Lally said, if there is sufficient water supply.

Trouble is, he said, the city's county board supervisors in the main are older men whom you can't get to do anything. He said a change in the type of man who is the supervisor is required.

Question of Commerce

(The idea of a county golf course was advanced last year by Appleton Ald. Thomas K. Schneider. City councilmen were unanimous in approval and forwarded the resolution to the county board.)

(Supervisors turned down the request Nov. 7 because it was found, they said, the course would cost between $325,000 and $350,000.)

Former Mayor Roemer inquired about the extra-fee idea several years ago, Arthur W. Jones, board secretary, reported, but his arguments against it seemed to answer the question, Jones said.

With the chamber of commerce and merchants trying all they can to get people to come into the city, it appears illogical to suddenly exclude them on one thing, Jones said he told Roemer.

Boldt Construction Gets Conway Contract

Demolition Work Slated to Start Later This Month

Oscar J. Boldt Construction company, Inc., has been awarded the general construction contract for the estimated $750,000 Conway hotel project.

John Conway, secretary, treasurer and manager of the hotel, said today it will be a few days before an award is made for heating, ventilating, air conditioning and plumbing.

The project calls for demolition of the oldest part of the present hotel structure: The lobby, shop areas and 40 rooms at the immediate corner of Oneida and Washington streets.

Construction on the old site calls for a 6-story, 72-room building, with a new lobby that will feature a drive-in registration desk, four new shop spaces, a between floors mezzanine and the entire sixth floor in office space.

Demolition will start later this month, Conway said. Construction of the new building is slated to begin before May 1.

The newly-completed structure should be ready for occupancy early next year, Conway believes.

Temporary Entrances

During demolition and construction, temporary entrances will be made next to the Patio Bar and at the Green Room on the Washington street side.

The remainder of the hotel's 100 rooms will be available throughout the work, Conway said, and will be connected to the bar and restaurant.

Architect for the replacement-addition was William B. Tabler, New York, who currently is planning Hilton hotels in Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

Man Fined $5 for Illegal Parking

Gasper's offense occurred March 1. The trial was postponed from March 7 because of the storm.

This is believed to be the first case tried in justice court in the town of Grand Chute.

Fined $300 On Two Counts

Raymond G. Hoier Arrested Sunday for Drunken Driving

Raymond G. Hoier, 20, route 1, Hortonville, today was fined $150 for drunken driving and $150 for driving after his license was revoked. He previously denied the charges.

State police arrested him Sunday night just outside of New London on Highway 45. State Patrolman A. R. Zabel, following the car, saw Gerold L. Young, 19, route 2, Shiocton, change places with Hoier as the car traveled about 35 miles an hour on an icy highway.

Hoier tested .18 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Young Monday was fined $100 for drunken driving. Police said Young drove the car about 200 feet after changing places with Hoier.

Hoier's past record indicates an Aug. 15 conviction for speeding 97 miles an hour and drunken driving. He was arrested on those two counts when he passed an unmarked squad car pursuing another speeder at 87 miles an hour. His record also includes two Police charged Miss Salm with failing to have her car under control.

Flat Tire Causes Firm to Lose Out on Construction Contract

Frankfort, Ky. — (U) — James Morton didn't beat around the bush when he was asked if he felt bad about a flat tire that may have caused his firm to miss out on a big construction contract yesterday.

"Hell, yes, I feel bad. Wouldn't you?" he asked.

It happened this way: The Thorp Construction company of Evansville, Ind., offered a bid of $1,457,145 for a new dormitory to house 522 men at the University of Kentucky.

Morton was taking the Switzer-Willing company bid to Frankfort when he had a flat tire.

Mussolini's Son Acquitted of Desertion

Florence, Italy — (U) — Benito Mussolini's son Vittorio has been acquitted of a charge of deserting the Italian Air Force in World war II.

The military court verdict brought cheers from a crowd of 200 sympathizers who surrounded the 42-year old son of Italy's late fascist dictator. Some kissed him.

Vittorio who came here voluntarily from Buenos Aires to stand trial, smiled.

"I knew I would be absolved because I always did my duty."

Vittorio said he would spend about a month in Italy with his mother, Donna Rachele, and would visit his father's tomb at Predappio before returning to Argentina.

The charges against Vittorio dated back to July 1943, a few days after his father was ousted as premier. Il Duce later was killed by an underground mob.

Other Funds Used for City Snow Removal

Cost Estimated
$20,000 Noth Says

Menasha — Although snow removal funds long have been depleted because of this severe winter, city crews are continuing street clearing by using other street department funds, says City Engineer M. J. Noth.

The city budget for snow removal contained $9,000, but the cost this winter has reached an estimated $20,000.

The city workers now would be working on the Water street sea wall, street and sewer cleaning, and tree trimming, had not so much snow fallen, he said.

"We'll have to try to catch up on those jobs later," Noth commented.

Another factor in the high cost of this winter's snow clearance work is much overtime paid the city's street workers, as well as extra costs for operation, maintenance and repairs of the city's equipment, used more than anticipated this winter.

Top priority when the thaw begins in earnest, Noth said, will be aiding residents with flooded basements. No. 2 on the department's priority list will be keeping the streets passable by moving flood waters and relieving sewer and culvert blockages.

If the thaw this spring is slow, it will be "fine," said Noth, but if there are too many warm days or rain, "we may have trouble."

The street department's new front end loader, ordered last week after purchase was approved by the city council, was expected to arrive this afternoon and will go into service on snow removal immediately.

Neenah Resident Reports Her Experiences
During 5 Years Attendance at 'Dells' Camp

Neenah — Camp Wawbeek at Wisconsin Dells, a camp where handicapped persons may have recreation, sports and handicraft, is among projects supported by returns from the annual Easter seal campaign, now being conducted in the Twin Cities.

The Neenah-Menasha Easter seal society based its campaign appeal for 1959 in a letter received from Miss Marion Killoren, 135 Second street, who has been a beneficiary of its program and the community's generosity for five years. She writes:

"I have been going to Camp Wawbeek every summer since 1953 and I seem to enjoy it more each year. It's such a thrill to participate in things such as handicraft work, games and sports. I sure love to go in swimming too but to me it's even a greater joy to see how much it means to those who aren't able to get around as good as I can."

Swimming Pool Added
"Thank you so very much for adding this wonderful swimming pool to our great vacationland. It's the highlight spot of camp to all of us and always will be," she adds.

"Camp Wawbeek means even more to me than a place to have a good time. Going to camp each summer means that I have another chance to do little favors for those who need more help than I do. Doing these favors is my way of thanking God for wonderful people who are always doing so many kind favors for me. Thank you for giving me the grand opportunity to attend this marvelous place," she concludes.

Streets in Gym Area Posted Parking Sites

Neenah Crews to
Banks at Corners

Neenah — Police Chief Irving H. Stulp appealed to motorists who will be attending the WIAA sectional tournament at the Neenah High school gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights to observe the parking signs posted along the streets.

Some streets will be marked for parking on one side only and others will be marked for no parking on either side. Cars parked in violation of the signs will be removed, he said.

Chief Stulp said the streets were narrow and made even narrower because of the snow. Street crews will be working today and Friday to remove snow banks to allow parking and getting out of cars.

High snow banks at intersections which have blocked the view of cars approaching on other streets are being removed. Wayne G. Bryan, public works director, said this morning.

Two tractors started along Cecil street and are working north to move the high banks and improve vision of approaching cars.

Camp Wawbeek, 568 campers and attendants spent two weeks doing things any camper would expect to do and 26 campers received Red Cross swimmers certificates.

Wawbeek vacations are available to any crippled person living in Wisconsin, between the ages of 8 and 45. Campers are selected on recommendations of local Easter seal societies. Neenah-Menasha area handicapped interested in making applications may contact Mrs. Ruth Falvey.

Mrs. Falvey reports that for those severely handicapped adults who must have an attendant, a special session is provided at the end of the camping season. Also included in the activities at Wawbeek is a cerebral palsy training program. During the week-long session, mothers and their cerebral palsied children receive instruction from a staff of experts.

Cost Divided Ordinarily the cost of the 2-week vacation at Wawbeek is divided equally between the state and Easter seal societies. In some few instances financially-able parents help defray the cost of the vacation.

In other cases, clubs and other similar groups help with the cost as part of their service programs. Local groups who have assisted with the project include the Menasha Homemakers, Pythian Sisters, Kings Daughters and Jayettes.

Warn Quick Thaw Would Bring Floods

Madison — A quick thaw will bring floods in the Kickapoo river valley area, the U. S. Weather Bureau warned today.

If that area in the southwestern part of the state gets three successive days of 50 degree or higher temperatures and no freezing at night, inhabitants along the Kickapoo should be prepared to evacuate, the bureau advised.

A heavy snow cover is responsible. In southwestern areas the blanket ranges from 12 to 24 inches.

The cold winter resulted in unusual thickness of ice on lakes and streams that would bring on ice jams in some sections with localized flooding, the bureau said.

Ingrid Bergman Gets Custody Of Children

Rome — A Rome court today provisionally awarded film star Ingrid Bergman chief custody of the three children born to her and film director Roberto Rossellini.

The ruling, described as provisory pending a final decision, said Rossellini should have certain visiting rights and holiday company of the children.

The children — Robertino and twin girls, Isotta and Isabella — are with their mother in France, where a Paris court previously granted her custody. So the legal effect of the Rome court order is debatable. Rossellini filed the action.

Under a coating of ice "14 inches thick in some places," the D. C. Everest sailed into Menominee, Mich., on its last voyage of the shipping season. During this voyage, the magazine relates, the vessel battled a storm on Lake Superior and ice in Lake Michigan.

During 1958 the vessel traveled approximately 37,000 miles as she hauled 102,000 tons of woodpulp from Canada to United States paper mills and returned with 24,000 tons of limestone for Marathon Corporation of Canada Limited's pulp mill at Marathon, Ont.

Marathon to Again Offer Scholarships

Foundation Awards Two 4-Year Grants Worth $2,000 Each

Neenah — Marathon foundation again will award two 4-year college scholarships valued at $2,000 each this year, the scholarships to go to graduating high school students attending schools in Wisconsin and Michigan communities where the Marathon division of American Can company operates.

This year's scholarships will be for study in the fields of chemical, electrical or mechanical engineering.

Carl R. Geisler, Marathon's vice president in charge of industrial relations, said that male students graduating by the end of 1950 term from Ashland, Green Bay, Menasha, Neenah, Marinette, Rothschild, Wausau and Menominee, Mich., high schools are eligible.

This is the eighth year that scholarships have been offered and the fifth consecutive year in which two scholarships will be awarded. Scholarships were won last year by Donald E. Dau, Wausau, and Peter C. Owzarski, Rothschild. Both are attending the University of Wisconsin.

Applications Due April 1

Descriptive material and application forms will be available from school superintendents and principals. Completed applications must be submitted to school superintendents or principals, not Marathon, by April 1.

Selection will be based upon the student's potential for success in engineering work within industry. Candidates will be chosen by high school faculty selection committees appointed at each school by the superintendent or principal. Each committee will review the applications and will recommend to the Marathon scholarship committee the application considered best qualified.

Recommended candidates will then be invited to Marathon's general office at Neenah - Menasha during April for interviews and examinations. From these candidates, the Marathon scholarship committee will choose the two winners, to be announced in May.

Recipients of the Marathon foundation college scholarship will be able to attend any college or university operating within Marathon scholarship requirements.

Scholarships are awarded for the period of time necessary to complete undergraduate work toward a bachelor's degree. Provision is also made for any recipient who may prefer to attend a college or university which has the combination work - study, or cooperative, program.

Marathon foundation officials point out that awards are outright financial grants requiring no repayment.

Farm Fires From Inadequate Wiring, Damp Hay Stressed

Oshkosh — Farm fire protection with adequate electrical wiring and mow hay drying, to preserve more digestible nutrients, were outlined to about 100 farmers at the Wisconsin Public Service company building here Tuesday night.

Orin Berge, extension engineer of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture, said that the curing of hay during the rainy seasons of June and July and the problem of spontaneous combustion, when damp hay is stored, has accelerated interest in forcing air through a hay mow by using a large fan propelled by either an electric or gasoline motor.

Alfred Krug and Parker Schultz, Appleton, representatives of the Wisconsin - Michigan Power company, demonstrated the dangers involved when electric circuits are overloaded. Inadequate wires with too large a fuse for the wires is very likely to result in fires, it was demonstrated.

Household equipment and farm motors do not operate efficiently when the wiring system is inadequate and wires which had melted from an overload were shown. Melvin Carpenter, rural sales representative of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, served as chairman for that part of the meeting.

20 Dryers in County

County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky reported 20 hay mow dryers are now in operation in the county and considerably more in other communities of the state. A statewide survey of the college of agriculture revealed that some counties have as many as 13 per cent of the farms with mow dryers as compared to 1.5 per cent for Winnebago county.

Berge said that weather records over the years show a high gamble on periods of successive sunny days necessary for hay curing in the field. A mow dryer coupled with a hay crusher shortens the outside hay curing period, increasing the possibility of getting unweathered hay into the hay mow before rain hits.

He emphasized the need for a large capacity fan, proper piling of bales if hay is baled in place of chopped, distribution of the chopped hay as it reaches the mow and use of

Gillingham History Club to Hold Party

Neenah — Gillingham Junior Historians club made plans for its Easter party March 26 when it met Monday.

Talks were given by Bonnie Bartlein on "Forests Come and Go," Judy Zemlock on "Wisconsin's Garden at Minocqua," Andy Zemlock on "Moon Tenders" and Bob Woldt on "General Sherman."

On the lunch and games committee for the Easter party will be members of the Kellett, Fletcher, Schwartzkopf, Krambs and McLeod families. Jay Kellett presided at the club meeting and Sally Breitreiter, secretary, and Bob Woldt, treasurer, gave reports.

Postpone Contests in Junior Circuit

Neenah — Tuesday's two contests in the Neenah Junior Church Basketball league were postponed because the Roosevelt gym was in use for the primary election. The games will be played later in the month.

No action is scheduled next week and a Feb. 3 postponed round is scheduled for March 24.

Neenah Message Center

100,000 Words a Day Handled By Marathon Teletypewriter Setup

Neenah — More than 100,000 words a day can be handled by the entire teletypewriter system of Marathon division of American Can company, both private wire and commercial timed wire service, with three operators in the Neenah message center controlling all of Marathon division's teletypewriting in the country.

The stepped up teletypewriter service to plants and sales offices in the country is described in the current issue of "Maralog," employee magazine.

Highlight of the new system is the resulting hookup of almost half of Marathon operations through two private wire networks, an eastern circuit and a Wisconsin circuit. "Electronic 'Brain'" Unique feature of the eastern private wire network is an electronic "brain" mechanism in the message center in Neenah. This equipment scans the entire system, picks up and directs messages to other points on the circuit, or routes messages to the message center for relay to destinations on the Wisconsin circuit.

All of this is done automatically, whether or not operators are attending equipment. The only manual operations in the system involve typing a perforated tape on a teletypewriter keyboard, feeding the tape into a teletypewriter machine for transmission and transferring the tape from one circuit to another in the Neenah message center.

Sparking the element of speed is the eastern system's ability to operate at 75 words per minute, or 40,000 words per work day. Equipment modification can "up" this rate to 100 words per minute, or 56,000 words daily, if necessary.

Second in Country Marathon's eastern network which was changed to fully automatic, high-speed operation early this year, is the second installation of its type in the country. Entirely tape operated, the eastern network is the most advanced communication medium of its kind.

Development of Marathon's teletypewriter system was made in cooperation with the American Telephone and Tel-graph company and the Wisconsin Telephone company. It is tailor-made to meet Marathon's needs with speedy service as the keynote.

Linked by the eastern network are Marathon facilities at Boston, Mass., New York, Philadelphia, Pa., Oswego, N.Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Chicago, Ill., Wausau and Neenah message center.

On the Wisconsin network are the Canal, Washington street and River street plants in Menasha, the Ne-

Catholicism, Kremlin, Crime Head New Books at Menasha

Menasha — "Treasury Agent," by Andrew Tully, now available at Ellisha D. Smith public library, contains some of the most exciting crime stories of the century taken from the closed files of the Internal Revenue service, Bureau of Customs and Narcotics and Secret Service.

The author, a White House reporter for the Scripps-Herald newspapers, has set forth the most prominent solved cases of the Treasury department and its subordinate agencies. One of the clearest and most penetrating analyses of the Kremlin's broad strategy and present objectives is available in "The Communist World and Ours" by Walter Lippmann. The work offers a positive program, as seen by the noted columnist, with which the Soviet's challenge for power in Asia and Africa can be met.

Three new books of Catholicism include Mary Wolff's "My First Seventy Years," a biography of Sister M. Madeline, poet and educator; "The Mystery of Calvary" by Gerard Rooney, of lenten reading interest; and "Dictionary of Papal Pronouncements," compiled by Sister M. Claudia.

Another new religious book is C. S. Lewis' "Reflections on the Psalms." Holding Carter's "The Angling's 'Sign for a Strange Land,'" tells the story of European Civil War Reconstruction refugees. Those who enjoy Zorro on television will want to read information contained in Lawrence Brings' "The Master Stunt Book."

MENASHA

Area Artists Invited to Enter Contest

Menasha — Twin City amateur artists may enter their projects in the 15th annual Central Regional Art show, to be held April 15-18 at Winneconne, according to Allan Loehndorf and Earl Juhl, Menasha school art coordinators.

The show is a joint effort of the University of Wisconsin agricultural extension service, the Winnebago county extension office, county superintendent of schools' office and Winneconne public schools.

Twin City students and adults wishing to enter at Winneconne may show pictures made with oils, watercolor, pencil, crayon, pastel and charcoal. Pictures must be original and suitably framed, of no specified size.

Craft work submitted in the contest may include ceramics, textile painting, weaving, jewelry and wood sculpturing.

Selected works will be displayed at the state art show at Madison after the regional shows.

High school students may compete for a scholarship to an art workshop in June at The Clearing, near Ellison Bay in Door county. Information on the contest is available from Loehndorf and Juhl.

Four Menasha students — Mary Kandy and George Kohanski of Menasha High school, and Barbara Baldauf and Sherry Robinson, of Clovis-Grove Grade school — attended the regional art show in February at Shawano. They were accompanied by Loehndorf, Juhl and Miss Edythe Sanderman, elementary school supervisor.

16,934 Books Loaned

Menasha — Circulation at Ellisha D. Smith public library for February was 16,934—5,620 adult books and 11,314 children's books. Also, 87 phonograph records were circulated, 247 library cards were issued and 118 cards expired.

Let's Feast on St. Pat's Day

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Your name may be Schultz instead of Shaughnessy, MacDonald instead of McNamara, you may be an Oman-ski rather than an O'Rourke or an O'Toole, but what difference does it make?

'Tis said there's a bit of Irish in every American, borrowed for a day if need be to do honor to those who stem from Erin. The wearing of the green is a charming custom on March 17, worn for St. Patrick, patron saint of the Emerald Isle.

So why not do the day up green this year with a family celebration? It's a wonderful day for a party. Spread a Kelly green cloth upon the table or spruce up white linens with bright green candles.

Foods No Problem

As for foods, that's the easiest part of all. Serve the traditional and hearty Celtic dish corned beef and cabbage. A green salad or colorful Lime Souffle Cake may be used to round out the decorative theme.

For an adaptation with authenticity, bake Irish tea cakes shaped like shamrocks and decorated with green cherries. The shamrock that small 3-leaved plant is supposed to have been used by the good saint to demonstrate the trinity. It is said that when he arrived in Ireland in the middle of March, the shamrocks were everywhere ready for the picking. That is how the 'wearing o' the green' got its start.

One of the best corned beef recipes we have found is one in which the brisket is simmered from four to five hours in water to which beer has been added. The meat comes out tender, with a delightful flavor.

Corned Beef and Cabbage

- 1 4-pound corned beef brisket
- 1 12-ounce bottle or can of beer
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1 peppercorn
- 2 stalks celery, with leaves

- 2 quarts shredded cabbage (1 large head)
 - 1 cup broth (reserved from corned beef)
 - 1 teaspoon salt
- Put brisket in deep kettle. Add cold water just to cover. Add beer. Add onion slices, bay leaf, cloves, peppercorns and celery. Cover, bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer four to five hours until meat is tender.

Remove from heat. Place shredded cabbage in large skillet. Add one-half cup of broth, sprinkle with salt. If desired, place slice corned beef over top of cabbage. Cover with tight fitting lid and cook over medium heat for 15 minutes.

Lime Souffle Cake

- 4 large eggs, separated
- 1 15-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
- 1 teaspoon grated lime rind
- 1/3 cup lime juice
- 2/3 cup fine zwieback crumbs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 cup finely chopped walnuts

Beat egg yolks in medium-sized mixing bowl until thick and almost white in color. Add condensed milk and beat until blended. Add grated lime rind and juice and beat again thoroughly.

Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold peak. Fold beaten egg whites into milk mixture.

Mix zwieback crumbs and sugar together blending well. Mix thoroughly with melted butter. Pat half of mixture into bottom of well-buttered pan, about 8 inches square.

Stir finely chopped walnut meats into rest of crumb mixture. Use half of this nut-crumb mixture for covering of

Was There Ever a Man (or woman) who could turn down a traditional corned beef and cabbage dinner? This brisket of corned beef is especially flavorful because beer is added to the liquid in which it simmers.

Lime Souffle Cake Adds a bit of green to honor the day of the good St. Pat. But there are three other good reasons for serving it—the cake has delicate flavor, substantial texture and it's ever so easy to make.

Fish Sticks Used As Hot Canapes

The popularity of fish sticks seems to know no bounds. More and more they're being used for hot canapes, as well as for main courses and snacks.

Fish Stick Dunks

Blue Cheese Sauce: To two cups mayonnaise add one tablespoon chopped parsley, two teaspoons prepared mustard, one teaspoon minced onion, one fourth cup grated blue cheese. Mix together and serve in a bowl. Sprinkle with chopped chives.

Spicy Sauce: To a cup of ketchup add one half cup chili sauce, one teaspoon Worcestershire, one teaspoon horseradish, juice of one lemon, one fourth teaspoon celery salt, dash Tabasco, one tablespoon vinegar. Serve in a bowl.

Eggs Elegant Served In Toasty Bread Cups

Serve eggs as golden egg-cheese puffs in petal-like bread cups.

Trim crusts, butter both sides of enriched bread slices. Gently press each slice into a custard cup and line with a slice of Canadian bacon.

Into each cup pour a one-fourth cup measure of the following mixture: one and one-half cups beaten eggs, one-third cup milk, one-half cup grated Swiss cheese, salt and pepper.

Place custard cups in a shallow pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven about 25 minutes. Remove from custard cup to serve.

Creamy Shrimp Soup

Begin a fancy luncheon with Creamy Shrimp Soup. Combine a can of condensed cream of celery soup with a "wheel" soup can of top milk or light cream. Add drained canned shrimp and heat. Put in soup bowls and sprinkle with paprika.

Franks, Kraut Welcome in Cold Weather

Gone with the country general store is the old barrel of sauerkraut that was a staple of another day. Often, the owner and his family took a hand in slicing the cabbage, raised perhaps in their own garden, and allowed to ripen—usually in an open keg—until it was pronounced by the taste test that it was ready for sale.

It was customary to cook it for hours on the wood or coal stove, usually with a good-sized piece of pork. Today, we buy our sauerkraut in cans or in plastic envelopes, and we are more likely to use frankfurters than pork with it. As the kraut has been long processed, it will need a very short time of cooking to prepare it for the table. The house will be only slightly scented and—to most of us—that is an advantage.

Barbecued Kraut And Frankfurters

- 1 can (1-pound 11 ounce) sauerkraut
- 6 frankfurters
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup minced onions
- 2 teaspoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- One-third cup catchup
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup water

Drain kraut, reserving three tablespoons juice. Cut frankfurters in halves lengthwise and cut each half in quarters.

Melt butter and saute onions until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients, kraut juice and frankfurter pieces. Cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Place kraut in greased shallow baking dish and top with frankfurter-catchup mixture. Bake in 350-degree oven 15 minutes.

Broccoli Spokes Decorate Pie

Simple Simon's pie man could have boosted business with Broccoli Colonial pie.

To make the crust press the following mixture into a 9 inch pie pan: one egg white (beaten until foamy), one and one-half cups dry bread crumbs, one-fourth cup melted shortening. Reserve one-fourth cup mixture for top of pie. Bake crust in moderate 350-degree oven for 15 minutes.

Cook six broccoli stalks (split in half lengthwise). On the crumb crust radiate the 12 stalks with tops at edge of crust.

For the filling: Combine one cup each of cream sauce (seasoned with thyme and bay leaf), diced cooked ham and grated process cheese. Pour mixture into crust between broccoli "wheel" spokes. Top with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in a moderate 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. Let stand five minutes before cutting into wedges for serving.

Amateur Cook Others Can Paste Stamps, Make Furniture—He'd Rather Go Cook

BY HUBBARD KEAVY
AP News-Feature Writer

I suppose that cooking is a more satisfying hobby than any other. That is because the results of the amateur chef's efforts are more tangible, usually edible, and give more pleasure to his family, his friends and himself than, say, a gem or a stamp or a well-turned table leg.

I have induced a score of friends to take up cooking. It is so different from what most of us do at our offices. And, most of them are better cooks than their wives. This is due, largely to the fact that wives must plan and prepare at least 20 meals a week while the husbands are responsible for only one. Who can be enthusiastic about food preparation 20 times a week?

Not so the man, who has to enthrone only once a week. He can, and should on his single weekly occasion, do a better job.

Any man can cook—if he can read a recipe, stand on his feet, stay reasonably sober and has an indulgent wife. Wives: Encourage your husbands and at the outset don't be too critical.

Follow Carefully

The beginner should follow a recipe carefully, using no more and no less of the ingredients called for. You have to have a lot of experience before you improvise. Do not, at the start, use a tablespoon if the recipe says a teaspoon. Measure it, and don't guess.

Rule No. 2 is: Buy only the best. Don't settle for off-brand brands of anything to save a few pennies. Once I ruined a minced clam-cream cheese dip because I bought clams priced a few cents less than a well known brand. Do not buy any meat less than choice. I was criticized once for paying $2.40 a pound for filet mignon that I cut into cubes, marinated, skewered and broiled. After one bite, my critic agreed that the best is the best eating.

Where, asks the man who'd like to cook, does one start? A number of years ago, to provide one answer, when my culinary efforts were confined to eggs, toast and coffee, I read the recipes for a complete Armenian dinner. I never had eaten Armenian food. But the description and the combination of ingredients fascinated me.

Become Favorites

I gathered the lamb and the onions and the rice and the wine and the seasonings, after memorizing the recipes. I invited some friends of adventurous nature (amateur cooks rush in where angels fear to walk) and performed the whole bit—shish kebab, sarma, paklava. Even my wife, who thought I was pretty thumbsy all afternoon (and I was), as well as presumptuous, agreed with the guests—and me—that it was pretty wonderful meal. Very professional, they all said.

Naturally Armenian dishes have become my favorites, so enamored am I yet of my initial effort. Here's how I fix shish kebab for four:

Leg of spring lamb, boned and cut into 2-inch squares.
4 medium sized onions, ground up fine.
½ cup of peanut oil

Seafarer's Salad

Here's a welcome addition to meatless menus. Mix together one and one-half cups cottage cheese, half teaspoon finely chopped sweet gherkins, pinch of garlic salt and dash of pepper. Form a mound on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Arrange whole sardines around sides of cheese mound. Dust with paprika. Chill and serve. Four generous servings.

Quick Supper Dish

Try this quick dish for a Saturday night supper. Put drained canned peas in a shallow baking dish. Dribble with melted butter. Cover with canned ravioli with beef sauce and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes, or until heated through.

Skillet Cabbage

Shred cabbage and saute in hot bacon fat for two or three minutes. Add a few tablespoons chicken stock or bouillon and cook until cabbage is tender crisp. Drain. Season with salt and ground black pepper to taste. Crumble crisp bacon over top. Serve at once.

1 teaspoon of thyme
3 bay leaves
Salt and pepper to taste
Wine (zinfandel or sherry) sufficient to cover the meat
Put the onion pulp in a cloth and squeeze the juice over the meat, which I trust you, have had the sense to put in a bowl. If you haven't, quit now.

Overnight

Mix the onion juice and the meat thoroughly and let it stand for an hour before adding the wine, the oil and the seasonings. The meat should rest in the marinade overnight, in the refrigerator. Put the meat on skewers and barbecue or broil until done. If you want to be fancy, although they do not add much to the flavor, put onion and lemon slices, mushroom caps and small tomatoes between the chunks of meat.

This dish should be accompanied by pilaff or sarma, which may be made of either rice or cracked wheat. The dessert is paklava—very thin pieces of dough topped with honey after baking. Any good recipe book should tell you how to make pilaff, sarma and paklava.

Now you know how to get started cooking. It's as easy as falling off your diet.

Pepper Includes Many Seasonings, Has Special Tang

"Season with salt and pepper" is such a common phrase in a recipe that many of us forget that while salt adds flavor, pepper has a special tang.

Under the term pepper are grouped a number of tangy seasonings that are quite different in flavor. There is hot Tabasco or red pepper, mild paprika and staple black pepper. Certain recipes specify white pepper for at one time there was a prejudice against the tiny bit of color black pepper provided. Famous chefs choose the latter, however, and use it liberally but discreetly.

Gourmet Touch Easy Work For Today's Homemaker

The homemaker who takes pride in providing her family with foods with a gourmet touch is clever enough to take advantage of the wonderful products on the market that allow her to eliminate tedious preparation time and work.

For instance, for a special steak with mushrooms cooked Tabasco or red pepper, mild paprika and staple black pepper. Certain recipes specify white pepper for at one time there was a prejudice against the tiny bit of color black pepper provided. Spinach Souffle with Egg Sauce
2 packages frozen cooked Spinach Souffle
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup thin cream
1 cup chicken broth
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
Bake the Spinach Souffle according to directions on the package.
Meanwhile, melt butter in a saucepan. Stir in flour and seasonings. Slowly stir in cream and chicken broth. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Fold in sliced egg.
To serve, turn the Spinach Souffles out on a hot platter, one on top of the other. Spoon the sauce over them. Extra sauce may be served in a sauce boat.

Tender Cuts of Beef
There is nothing better than a well-cooked, well-seasoned pot roast. For some reason, it does not seem necessary to mention that beef is the meat chosen to be prepared in this manner. The time of cooking will, of course, depend upon the type of meat that is purchased but cuts designed for this method of cooking are comparatively tender and will not need a very long period.

French Fried Sweets
Pare four medium sweet potatoes and slice into strips. Place in salted ice water for few minutes for crisping. Drain on paper towel. Fry sticks, a few at a time, in hot fat until golden brown, turning them occasionally. Drain on paper towel and serve hot, sprinkled with salt.

Tips to Clip Suggested for Fish Cookery

Top broiled or fried fish fillets with slivered blanched almonds browned in melted butter.

Spread fish sticks with chili sauce before baking.

Sprinkle clams or oysters with bits of bacon, minced onion and parsley, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Broil about eight minutes or until edges curl. This, by the way, is how you make the famous Clams and Oysters Casino.

Make a medium cream sauce, add cooked or canned shrimp, cooked or canned peas, and serve over hot cooked rice.

Lemon or lime wedges are a natural complement for any seafood. For an extra - pretty garnish, sprinkle the wedges with paprika after you garnish your fish dish with them.

Make a hot, spicy sauce this way, to serve with any broiled or fried fish. To one cup bottled cocktail sauce, add one tablespoon horseradish, dash Tabasco, one tablespoon capers. Heat, but do not let boil.

These 2 Irish Recipes Are Worth Trying

BY EDITH M. BARBER

Many residents of the Emerald Isle credit their patron saint with having brought the potato to them, but this vegetable had many centuries to wait before it was introduced from the faraway western hemisphere. It deserves honor, as it practically saved a nation from famine at a critical time.

Everyone is familiar with the savory stew of which potatoes are always an ingredient, and a few persons enjoy the soda bread.

Most of us will be content with preparing foods molded in shamrock shape and perhaps decorated with a bit of green. Mint-flavored green cherries add both color and flavor to Irish Tea Cakes. These may be used as a cookie or with a sauce as a dessert.

Irish Tea Cakes
2 cups flour, sifted
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1-3 cup milk
1/2 cup currants
1-3 cup chopped mint-flavored green cherries, drained (about 15 cherries)
Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Press into ball. Place on lightly floured surface and roll out to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut out with floured 2 1/2-inch cutter, or shamrock - shaped cutter. Place on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. Garnish with additional green cherries, as desired.

Irish Hard Sauce
1/2 cup butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons mint - flavored cherry syrup
2 teaspoons brandy (optional)
1/2 cup mint-flavored green cherries (about 10 cherries)
Pound cake
Cream butter and sugar together. Add cherry syrup and brandy, and beat until blended. Fold in cherries. Serve with pound cake.

In Honor of St. Patrick, Irish Tea cakes are shaped like shamrocks and decorated with a touch of green.

Alaskan Angel Food Cake Note of Spring
Greet the spring thaws with a frosty treat - Alaskan Angel Food cake.

To prepare: Cut a baker's angel food loaf cake, horizontally, into three equal layers. Restack the cake using slices of ice cream for the fillings.

Make the lower filling chocolate and the upper one strawberry flavor. Place on cookie sheet.

Completely cover top and sides of filled cake with a stiffly-beaten meringue, making sure meringue seals cake and ice cream from the air. Store in freezer until ready to bake. Or, bake at once in a hot 450-degree oven until lightly browned, about five minutes. Serve immediately.

New French Toast Goes With Sauce

First call to breakfast and all will come a-running for sandwich - style Orange - Apple French Toast.

For the filling: Combine two and one-half cups chopped apples, one-half cup brown sugar, two tablespoons grated orange rind and one-half teaspoon cinnamon in a saucepan.

Simmer slowly until apples are almost transparent and tender. Cool. Spread between enriched bread slices and dip sandwiches in an egg-milk French toast mixture.

Place on a well-greased baking sheet. Bake in a hot 450-degree oven for seven minutes on each side, or until nicely browned. Top with orange marmalade or orange sauce.

In a saucepan, blend together two tablespoons each of butter (melted) and sugar, two teaspoons cornstarch and one-half teaspoon grated orange rind. Add one-half cup orange juice. Serve over Orange-Apple French Toast.

water and bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Continue to cook for an additional three minutes. Remove from heat and blend in one-fourth cup orange juice. Serve over Orange-Apple French Toast.

Playing Hookey Paid Off for Barbara Cook

Singing Librarian of 'Music Man' Gives Tip to Stagestruck Girls

BY HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures

Advice to stagestruck girls trying to crash a Broadway show: Get a job as a typist rather than a secretary so the boss won't miss you when you sneak out for that big audition. Barbara Cook, the pretty singing librarian of "Music Man," used this technique with great success when she arrived in town with a suitcase and a pocketful of dreams and sheet music from her native Atlanta, Ga.

She went to work for an oil company and played hookey from her typewriter to camp outside producers' doors and wait her turn at show auditions.

"It's not as easy as it sounds," she confided in the dressing room of the Majestic theater where "Music Man" has settled down for a good hunk of eternity. "Most agents and directors won't see you at all unless you're known, and at

Did the boss ever find out? "I think he may have suspected," said Barbara with a melting smile that would have driven and boss to type his own letters. "They were all very nice. Let's just say I managed to be gone without being missed."

When the break came it took Barbara not to Broadway but to Boston for a sole engagement in a big supper club. This in turn led to an appearance at New York's "Blue Angel." There she caught the attention of a producer, starred in a flop called "Flahooley," toured with "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel," was a smash in "Plain and Fancy," and "Candide" and finally hit the top in "Music Man."

In addition to Capitol's cast

A Finger Operation Has exiled Van Cliborn from his piano keyboard for a while, which means he had to postpone his second tour of the Soviet Union where he won fame last year. Recovering in a New York hospital, the 24-year-old Texan is under doctors' orders to stay away from a keyboard for at least two months.

album of "Music Man," she has scored a big hit in Urania's "Songs of Perfect Propriety," a collection of Dorothy Parker's wry and ironic poems put to music by composer Seymour Barab. The combination is a Urania best selling album and calls for another.

"This time," said Barbara, "I'm allowed to pick my own songs. Most of them will be from hit shows, but some will be just old songs that I happen to love, like 'I Get Along Without You Very Well.'"

Barbara insisted that she looked back with pleasure on her old career as a white collar girl with one eye on the typewriter and the other on the casting notices in Variety.

The boss, if he knew anything about personnel matters, should be eagerly awaiting the new Cook album. So are we.

Tribute Paid to Lou Costello, Natural Comic

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood —— A game little guy named Lou Costello has been erased from the movie scene. He'll be missed. Lou was a show business natural. Nobody could explain why he was so funny. He was no intellectual, no student of human foibles. His material had no subtlety nor polish. Indeed, much of it had been worked over and over by a generation of burlesque comics.

But when Lou did the routines, they seemed funnier. For one thing, he had in Bud Abbott a straight man who had no superior. And the public seemed to recognize Lou for the natural he was—an abnormally funny man.

As far as can be judged, Lou Costello had no enemies. Even Bud Abbott, with whom he sometimes feuded, couldn't stay mad at him for long.

Outgoing Man The reason was that Lou was completely outgoing. He was generous to a fault—which was all right when the money was flowing in, but brought him trouble later. He lacked complexity. When he worked, he worked hard. When he played, it was the same way.

After the pair made "Buck Privates," they shot to the top of the movie popularity polls. Filmed on minor budgets, their movies made millions for Universal. Abbott and Costello staged a sit-down strike until they were cut in on the millions, too.

The big money continued for a dozen years. But it managed to go out as fast as it came in. Once Lou said he and Bud had earned $11 million a year for over a decade, yet neither had been able to save a nest egg.

Where did it all go? Over 90 per cent went to taxes, the rest to writers, agents, lawyers. Lou always was an easy touch for unlucky oldtimers.

When jobs started getting more scarce, Lou made his toughest decision, a final split with Bud. Perhaps he could do better as a single. A long series of illnesses had left him in poor health, but he couldn't afford to retire.

He made several appearances on the Steve Allen show and starred in a movie last fall. He was proud that he broke the Las Vegas attendance record at the Dunes. He was as funny as ever, but strangely restrained. Few realized that Lou was then a sick man, but still playing the clown because he had to.

Liberal Deer Season Probably on Tap For State Hunters

Game Mangement Unit Cites
Need for Drastic Herd Trimming

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Another liberal deer shooting season is probably on tap for 300,000 Wisconsin big game hunters next fall, according to developments here today.

The Wisconsin Conservation commission today heard from its game management division a proposal for an early and long shooting season in upper Wisconsin in order to trim deer numbers drastically. And, for a generous extension of the party permit system for the shooting of extra deer by regularly licensed hunters.

The proposal turned up as the Conservation department prepared recommendations for the spring meetings of the county sections of the Wisconsin Conservation congress, which annually reviews fish and game rules and makes recommendations to the commission for final action.

Last fall, a relatively liberal deer code brought a bag of about 100,000 animals. Plans for this year as now being developed could very well increase that harvest substantially.

The commission is under heavy pressure from industrial forest interests to get rid of surplus deer.

The idea of more shooting also has the backing of the big game committee of the conservation congress.

The tentative proposal is for a 15-day shoot in upper Wisconsin starting earlier than usual to permit more hunters to participate before heavy snows, and the issuance of more of the party permits for the taking of an extra deer of either sex and any age in groups of four hunters.

The department now has before the legislature a bill that would allow a flexible system of party permits, from two hunters to as many as eight. It is not yet certain that the measure will become law. If it does, permits will be issued to two or three hunters in zones of deer surplus, in order to trim the herd and reduce forest damage. In other sections the party permit might be confined to four or six or more hunters.

Bobcats Even Playoff Series With 10-2 Win

Mayasich Scores
Hat Trick in
Rout of Radars

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Men with a mission, Green Bay's hungry Bobcats stormed back into Mid-America Hockey league playoff contention with a 10-2 rout of the Calumet Radars at the Arena Wednesday night.

Sizzling like delayed bombs for the first 20 minutes, the militant home forces exploded in the faces of their bewildered guests in a 6-goal second period that ended the suspense for 1,881 of the faithful—as well as the Bobcats' unhappy victims.

Fat 4-0 Lead

The thumping victory squared their semi-final series with the Radars at 1-1 and assuaged the pain of a 5-4 opening reversal in an overtime battle at Calumet over the weekend. It also set the stage for a third showdown at the Arena Saturday night. The fourth game will be played at Calumet Sunday and the fifth, if necessary, at the Arena next Tuesday.

For all practical purposes, this one was all over with less than five minutes gone in the second period, at which point the Bobcats were riding a fat 4-0 lead triggered by three rapid-fire goals. The Radars shortly spoiled the shut-out, but the Bobcats, stung by the visitors' temerity, lashed back with a pair in 36 seconds to wrap it up.

Ed Hickey Says Both MSU and MU are Tough

Sees Rebounding
Battle Between
Mangham and Green

Marquette's basketball coach Eddie Hickey sees Michigan State as a tough foe in their NCAA game at Evanston Friday but he thinks his Warriors "can be pretty tough ourselves."

Marquette had little trouble winning its first round game Tuesday over Bowling Green, 89-71, at Lexington, Ky.

"We are much the same kind of team as Michigan State, Hickey said. "A real good individual battle on the boards should be in store with our Walt Mangham against their John Green, a real jumping jack."

Good Individual Battle

The Marquette coach added that the Spartans also have a fine rebounder in Bob Anderson, but feels his men can hold him in check.

Anderson, a Monroe, Wis., youth, has been particularly effective as an outside threat while Green works in close. And Hickey has a deceptive and can go in without any trouble besides being an excellent outside shot, Assistant Coach Jim Smith who

Other Wisconsin boys on the Michigan State team include Dave Fahs, also of Monroe and Lance Olson and Tom just 130 students — went Rand of Green Bay.

'Chuck' Ignores Veeck; Stalemate Continues

Bill Is 'Regretful'
That There Has to Be Chisox Hassle

Chicago — Baseball's strangest stalemate continued today with the self-styled boss of the Chicago White Sox ignoring the man who just assumed control of the club, or thought he did.

Bill Veeck, who Tuesday bought 54 per cent of the club, said he would visit Comiskey park for the second consecutive day with hopes of an official get-together with Vice President "Chuck" Comiskey. Comiskey hastily departed the ball park Wednesday just as Veeck and his top associate, Hank Greenberg, arrived for a first look at "what we bought."

Comiskey didn't even return a distant wave by Greenberg from in front of the park where he and Veeck were being photographed. Later "Chuck" said he had to leave for an appointment and denied he was avoiding Veeck.

Not on Sox Business

Chuck said if his path crossed Veeck's, he'd talk with him, but not on Sox business. "I'm not officially or unofficially notified by a bona fide Sox officer yet that my sister's (Dorothy's) stock has been sold," said Chuck. "I don't know what position Veeck holds."

Veeck has announced that

The Babe and I' On 1st Date, Babe Tells Claire All About His Disastrous 1922 Season

Jim Barton was a big star, and also a big Yankee fan. So his box was right behind the Yankee dugout on the third base side of Griffith's day. The sum total of this first stadium in Washington, and there were one warm day, meeting was, I am sure, typical of any single woman's reaction: He is famous, so it's ting practice. Jim called Babe over to the box and introduced him; he is pleasant, and he's married.

How About Dinner?

We had a matinee the next day, and when I arrived at the National theater a note was waiting for me: "I don't know what hotel you're at, so I'm sending this note. Will you have dinner with me this evening? Babe Ruth."

Really Not Gruff

As he and Jim talked, I realized his "Hello" was really not gruff. He simply had a rough voice. He was friendly with Barton, although singularly uninterested in the two young ladies from "Dew Drop Inn."

It was not an impressive meeting, and the man did nothing in the course of the game to make me doubt that

Braves' Pisoni Also Raps Two Round-Trippers

By The Associated Press

Wally Post may supply the right answer to the Philadelphia Phillies' question: "Who will share the outfield with Richie Ashburn and Harry Anderson?"

Ashburn, the National league's batting king in 1958 with a .350 average, and Anderson, the soph who hit .301 with 97 runs batted in and had 23 homers, need help to get the Phils out of the NL cellar.

Post was supposed to supplant the power the Phils missed in 1957 when Del Ennis went to St. Louis after the 1956 season. Philadelphia gave the Cincinnati Reds pitcher Harvey Haddix in exchange for Post.

Not As Planned

Things didn't work out as planned last year. Post wound up being platooned with "Rip" Repulski and Anderson, and doing a lot of pinchhitting. He finished with a respectable .282 batting average, but had only 12 homers (four as pinchhitter) and 62 RBIs.

Post went about nailing down the outfield job Wednesday with a pair of home runs in a 17-hit Philadelphia attack that demolished the Milwaukee Braves, 13-7. Gene Freese also homered for the Phils and rookies Jim Pisoni and Chuck Cottier did likewise for the Braves.

The Braves' Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, Bob Buhl and Dale Hendrickson were the victims of the Phils' attack.

The Braves took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a homer by Pisoni, but only briefly. Phillies hitters found the range in the third inning and merrily counted five runs off Willey. Buhl followed Willey to surrender one more run. Rush gave up two and Hendrickson, a rookie, let go of five runs in the ninth inning.

Pisoni and Cottier each accounted for three RBIs, Pisoni with two homers and Cottier's three safeties.

Win Over Cincy

By The Associated Press

Hank Sauer's grand slam homer highlighted a 6-run eighth inning Wednesday to give the San Francisco Giants a 10-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Cal Neeman and Tony Taylor hit home runs for Chicago.

Don Demeter's long single gave Los Angeles a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. Johnny Temple, with four hits, and Roy McMillan with three and three RBIs paced the Cincinnati attack.

Chuck Essengian's triple and Lee Tate's single in the tenth inning helped St. Louis to its first Grapefruit league victory, over Pittsburgh, 5-4. Stan Musial, in his initial training appearance, went hitless.

Boston capitalized on two errors each by first baseman Larry Doby and pitcher Hal Woodeshick to edge Cleveland, 4-3, and remain the only unbeaten team in exhibition play.

A 2-run homer by rookie Bob Callison in the eighth inning handed the New York Yankees their third straight loss, as Washington won a 13-12 slugfest.

The Braves' Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, Bob Buhl and Dale Hendrickson were the victims of the Phils' attack.

The Braves took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a homer by Pisoni, but only briefly. Phillies hitters found the range in the third inning and merrily counted five runs off Willey. Buhl followed Willey to surrender one more run. Rush gave up two and Hendrickson, a rookie, let go of five runs in the ninth inning.

Pisoni and Cottier each accounted for three RBIs, Pisoni with two homers and Cottier's three safeties.

rivals checked with authority throughout, there were only three penalties and, for the first time in recent memory, no fisticuffs. The Bobcats, in fact, didn't have a representative in the "sin bin" until the third period when rugged Dick Dougherty was incarcerated for tripping.

A pleasant surprise, considering they have played only two games and practiced but once in the last two weeks, was the Cats' sharp passing, particularly in that rousing second period when nine members of the cast figured in the production of those six goals.

Though he hadn't been on ice in a week and a half, the polished Johnny Mayasich managed to engineer his fifth hat trick of the season. This collection, along with a pair of assists, enabled him to tie the hardworking Mike Horn for game scoring honors. Horn, who narrowly missed the hat trick himself, notched two goals and three assists.

Seven of their colleagues shared in the harvest.

Ask CC to Reduce Deer Herd In Areas of Tree Losses

Madison — The Wisconsin Conservation commission was asked Wednesday to reduce the deer herd in areas where losses have been suffered by pine and hardwood tree farmers.

The state forestry advisory council, an organization of representatives of the forest products industry, told the commission substantial losses have been suffered because deer browsed on young trees.

The forestry group met with the commission and the executive council of the Wisconsin Conservation congress.

Donald Mackie, of the State Conservation department's forestry division, said a survey of 59 owners of large tracts of timber in 31 counties indicated that 39 per cent of the holdings suffered deer damage.

F. J. Kilp, of the Nekoosa Edwards Paper company, Port Edwards, said his firm planted 200 acres of white pine and "we didn't have 15 trees left as the result of deer damage."

The lumbermen said they favored a bill now in the legislature that would permit two hunters to get a permit to kill a deer of any sex. In the past two deer hunting seasons, a party of four hunters could get such a permit.

Kenoshan Champ Bantamweight in Chicago Bouts

Chicago — Chicago's Golden Glovers, the best amateur scrappers in the West, will take boxing skill rather than punching power against New York in the March 25 intercity bouts here.

This was demonstrated clearly Wednesday night before 11,243 in Chicago stadium and a national television audience in Chicago's tourney of champions finals.

McClure Wins

Wilbur McClure, Toledo, Ohio, retained his 160-pound championship with a decision over Cincinnati's Herbert Willis.

The only other returning champion, little Gil Yanez of Toledo, retained his flyweight crown with a decision over Oscar German, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pat Moore, Kenosha, won the bantamweight title.

The 118-pound Moore outpointed Gilbert Martinez, Fort Worth, Tex., in a semi-final bout and then got the decision over Jack Range, Nashville, Tenn., in the title fight.

Kimberly and Manty Favored In Friday Tests

Grove fourteenth in final WIAA Little 16 ratings.

Not Big

The forwards are not big. Don Harmeling, a 5-11 junior, has counted about 320 points while Larry Weiberdink, a 6-1 senior, has tallied 290. The guards, with their approximate point totals in parentheses, are: Roy Ackerman, 5-10 senior (175) and Lee DeMaster, 5-11 senior (300).

The No. 6 man is Lowell Voskuil, a 6-1 sophomore guard-forward.

The Ivan Molter - coached Rockets were second in the Kettle Moraine conference to Oostburg. In sub-district action, Cedar Grove beat Elkhart Lake, 63-52, and Oostburg, 57-34. (Oostburg, reportedly, was weakened by flu in that game.)

Cedar Grove defeated Brussels, 68-35, and Rosendale, 55-35, for the Reedsville district title. The Rockets will be the second Kettle Moraine conference club to play in the Neenah sectional, Oostburg having appeared there in 1957.

Scoring Balance

Cedar Grove's strong points, thus far, have been balanced scoring and good shooting. The Rockets use zone, man-for-man and pressing defenses.

Niagara is paced by a 6-0 senior guard, Ray Neveau, who has already received over 30 "feelers" from college's interested in his athletic ability. A 208-pounder who is a football tackle, Neveau is averaging about 22 points a game.

Niagara is appearing in its third straight sectional. Last year the Willard Butler-coached Badgers were shaded by Wausau, 53-49, at Wisconsin Rapids. Two years ago Niagara was eliminated by state champion-to-be Shawano.

Butler has compiled a 65-13 won-loss mark in his three years at Niagara.

Excellent Height

The Badgers have excellent height for a small school but they'll still be outmached size-wise in the front line by Manty. Center Dick Brown, a junior, and forwards Randy Campagne (junior) and Ted O'Donnell (senior) are all 6-2. The club's smallest starter is Jim Hiesenfeldt, a 5-9 senior.

Shoulder Is Bothering Mantle Again; X-Rays are Negative

St. Petersburg, Fla. — Mickey Mantle stayed at the New York training camp Wednesday nursing a sore shoulder while the Yankees trekked to Orlando for the exhibition game with the Washington Senators.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, ordered Mantle to take it easy for three or four days after the $80,000 center fielder apparently aggravated his right shoulder throwing to first base during an exhibition game with the Milwaukee Braves Monday.

Mantle came out for batting practice Tuesday, and reported his shoulder was bothering him again. He injured it in the third game of the 1957 World Series when he collided with "Red" Schoendienst in a play at second base. The shoulder bothered him at times last year.

Gaynor sent Mickey to the hospital for X-rays, which proved negative.

"I told him he could work out, but not to throw the ball for several days," Gaynor said.

The injury hampered Mickey last spring and the switch-hitter couldn't bat left-handed without pain. In June he was given treatments, and apparently the trouble was corrected.

After hitting only 14 homers until July, Mickey returned to his old form in the final three months. He batted at a .350 clip from July through September.

The divisional semifinal playoffs get under way Friday night in the National Basketball association.

The regular season ended Wednesday night, with the St. Louis Hawks defeating the Nationals in overtime at Syracuse, 132-130, and the Detroit Pistons pulling up from behind to nip the Lakers at Minneapolis, 123-118.

New York, runnerup to the Boston Celtics, in the Eastern division, entertains Syracuse in New York Friday night in the opener of their best-of-3 playoffs. The winner meets Boston.

Visits St. Paul

Detroit travels to St. Paul to take on the Lakers in their semi-final series starting Saturday. The winner of this series takes on the champion Hawks.

Bob Pettit scored 27 points to break another league record. Last week he broke George Yardley's 1-season record of 2,103. In finishing the season with an average of 29.2 points per game, he shattered the 28.4 mark of Minneapolis' George Mikan, made in 1950-51.

phone call backstage. "I'll be delighted to have you both," the Babe's voice boomed. He gave me his hotel and his suite number.

I asked him if there weren't any restaurants in Washington.

"Lord, Miss Hodgson," he replied, plaintively, "I can't go into any restaurant."

"And why not?"

"Because I get mobbed every time I try to eat in a restaurant."

Then his laughter shook the telephone. "Don't worry. You and your girl friend won't have anything to worry about. My suite'll be lousy with people."

A Bad Year

So Bobbie Kane and I had dinner in his suite. And it was lousy with people. People that were utter strangers to me, and people that were virtual strangers to Babe.

My host was morose. And he was drinking. We sat in a corner and I realized I was hearing the baseball player's version of an unhappy businessman's complaints.

This was the beginning of the 1923 season, and Babe was miserable. The 1922 season had been a catastrophe for him. He didn't want to face another like it, but he was afraid, in fact, that he was washed up before he was 30.

All the world adored him. He thought all the world hated him. And he knew he hated himself.

There was liquor in this talk. But there was no drunkenness. The Babe was not then, nor was he ever afterwards, either a drunk or a teetotaler. He liked to drink, and no "overgrown kid" could have fought and licked alcohol as Babe Ruth did.

Slow Down Indicated

And they never made enough beer or whisky to turn Babe mean or nasty.

But there were many reasons why he would have to slow down, and these reasons began to appear as we talked.

He told about 1921, the year he hit 59 home runs, batted .378, knocked in 170 runs, and played in 152 (all but two) games. That was the year when he proved that 1920, a year almost as fabulous, had been no freak.

But the year before our meeting—1922—had been disastrous. Not for a great star but for the star of all great stars. He had gotten in a fight with Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis and had been suspended.

He had fought with the owners of the Yankees; he had fought with the ballplayers—real fights, with fists and blood. And he was in perpetual warfare with Miller Huggins.

He was reviewing all these things with a woman he didn't know very well.

'Friends' Help Out

And as he described the home run output that had fallen from 59 in 1921 to 35 in 1922, and the batting average that had fallen 63 points, and the 16 games he had missed for one reason or another, I

Perini Believes Roach Will be Ready Several Weeks After Opener

Braves Owner Doesn't Feel Loss of 'Red' Is Crippling, Not Worried About Conley

Bradenton, Fla. —(P)—Lou Perini, the owner of the National league champion Milwaukee Braves, says the team is going to miss "Red" Schoendienst but emphasized the loss of the top second baseman isn't necessarily a crippling blow.

"I think we've got enough strength there to start the season," Perini said Wednesday. "We can always trade off one or two of our pitchers if we run into trouble. I'd be willing to gamble, though, that Mel Roach will be ready two or three weeks after the season opens."

Tony DeMarco Passes Test

Former Champion Wins 1st Bout After Layoff

Boston —(P)—Tough Tony De Marco, the million dollar baby of Boston boxing, set his sights high today after convincing himself he isn't washed up at 27.

The former welterweight champion passed his initial test after a 14-month layoff by stopping George "Curley" Monroe of Worcester at 1:09 of the eighth round of a scheduled 10 Wednesday night at the garden.

"I proved to myself that I still have it," De Marco said. "I feel wonderful. I want to keep busy and hope to fight my way back into the title picture."

The squat Boston slugger also proved something to a crowd of 7,940 which paid a gross of $24,582. He showed that he has not lost the dramatic touch which made him a great local ring attraction.

De Marco flashed much of his old-time form and tremendous punching power in flooring Monroe twice. At other times he resembled the De Marco of old with wild attempts which enabled Monroe to get off the hook and stay upright.

Moore Has Chance at Howe's Mark

By the Associated Press

Dickie Moore, Montreal Canadiens left winger and leading scorer in the National Hockey league, has a chance to break Gordie Howe's all-time point record for one season.

Moore talked his thirty-eighth goal of the season and collected two assists Wednesday night at Toronto when the Canadiens trounced the Maple Leafs, 6-2. Moore now has 86 points.

With five games left before the Canadiens go into the Stanley cup playoffs, Moore has to average two points per contest to break Howe's mark of 95.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Black Hawks ended a 3-game losing streak by whipping the New York Rangers, 5-3, thus clinching a playoff berth for the first time in six years.

Stroh's Beer Shoots At Pfeiffers' Mark In ABC Tournament

St. Louis —(P)—Another well-armed challenger will attempt to wrest the American Bowling Congress tournament team lead from the Detroit Pfeiffers tonight.

Stroh's Beer, also of Detroit, will try to better the record 3,243 series which put Pfeiffers in first place in the open division more than two weeks ago.

The Munsingwear team of Chicago, led by Buddy Bommar, was the latest team to fall short of Pfeiffers' imposing score. The club rolled a 2,947 series Wednesday night, not even good enough for a place in the top 10.

A darkhorse team gained third place, Leonard Sales of St. Louis, rolled 3,142.

No Progress Reported in Grocery Strike

But Both Sides See 'Clearing Air' in Teamster Dispute

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — No substantial progress was made at the resumed bargaining session between striking Teamsters' Local 75 and the Red Owl and Super Valu grocery chains here Wednesday, according to both Emmett Terry, union negotiator, and company officials. But there has been a "clearing of the air" in the current dispute.

Another session has been tentatively scheduled for Monday.

Both Terry and the companies confirmed the atmosphere was better although neither would comment on the possibility of an early settlement of the strike which began last Saturday. Wage increases and overtime are the principal stumbling blocks to agreement at the moment.

The company has offered boosts of 12 cents this year and 8 cents an hour in each of the two following years. The union has asked for increases of 25, 10 and 10 cents an hour. Involved in the strike are truck drivers and warehouse employees.

Pickets on Duty — Pickets have been on duty at all Green Bay stores operated by Red Owl and Super Valu since early this week and were stationed at Red Owl's DePere store today. Agency outlets, not owned but supplied by the two chains, have not been picketed.

In spite of the pickets, all stores have been open but are operating on reduced inventories. Outside firms, including milk companies, have been permitted to make deliveries but no supplies have been moved by the companies themselves. Clerks are not on strike.

Terry said this morning the union would not immediately expand its picketing to stores in northeastern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan serviced by the Green Bay warehouses pending the outcome of Monday's meeting.

4-County Police To Study Method Of Vault Thieves

Clintonville — Police of four counties plan to compare notes on their experience with burglars who break through vault walls to get to the loot.

Ted Pagel, police chief at New Holstein, where the technique was used most recently, is arranging the meeting. Police Chief Len Manser, Clintonville, said today.

The New Holstein High school vault was entered through a 14 by 18 inch hole hammered out of the 14-inch cinder block wall of the safe. From $500 to $1,000 was taken some time Monday night.

Clintonville High school's vault was entered in a similar manner Feb. 27 and $500 was taken.

Within a month of these breaks, the vault at the Green Valley Feed mill in Shawano county and a vault in Pardeeville, Columbia county, were looted in the same manner.

Chief Manser said he expected Chief Pagel to complete the meeting arrangements today.

Mystery, Comedy Combined In AHS Senior Class Play

Mystery and comedy combine in "Leave It to Psmith," to be presented by the Appleton High school senior class at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 21.

P. G. Wodehouse, an English humorist who wrote the play in collaboration with Ian Hay, spiced the play with humor and laugh-provoking characters and situations. In the early 1900's Wodehouse began writing short stories about the character Psmith (pronounced with the "p" silent as in "psalm"). His play "Leave It to Psmith" was produced in 1931.

Psmith is a likeable character who is willing to be hired for any kind of job. His ad in the newspaper had said "Crime not objected to."

Other Characters — This is the character around whom the play revolves after Freddy, stepson of Lady Middlewick, had gotten in touch with Psmith when he felt he wasn't getting a just inheritance from an aunt. Other characters who are introduced are would-be writers, poets, flashy crooks, young and charming girls, and London aristocrats who display a background of wealth.

Tickets for the play may be obtained at the high school or Blanding Castle home of the Earl of Middlewick, his wife, and Freddy are now being received at the as well as the maid, Mary. It is, office.

Young Girl Pushes Companion From Path of Automobile

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — The 7-year-old daughter of a Green Bay policeman was slightly injured this morning while trying to prevent the 6-year-old daughter of a city fireman from being hit by a car.

The two girls, Colleen Bishop, daughter of Policeman Jim Bishop, 994 Langlade avenue, and Mary Ann Basche, daughter of Fireman Jack Basche, 1079 Rockdale street, were on their way to school and running northward across 9th street at 14th avenue when the incident occurred about 7:45 a.m.

Colleen saw that the other girl, starting across the street, was going to be struck by a car. She called to her and then ran out into the street to catch and pull her out of the car's path but both were struck by the auto.

Injuries — Mary Ann suffered head and face injuries and an injured left leg. She was taken by ambulance to St. Vincent hospital.

Colleen received an injured left hand. She disappeared from the scene and was not identified until an officer located her later at St. Joseph school, two blocks east, where she is a student in second grade. She didn't require medical treatment.

The auto involved, driven by Gary Parkinson, 18, 915 Waverly place, was traveling slowly at the time of the accident, witnesses said.

Denies Drunken Driving Charge

Edwin Wunderlich, 66, route 1, Appleton, today in municipal court denied a charge of drunken driving and posted $118.95 bond for trial April 16.

Wunderlich was arrested about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday by the state patrol after his car stopped for a stop sign at Highway 76 and 45, then pulled in front of an oncoming car, forcing it from the road. Wunderlich did not stop for the squad car's flashing signal until the patrol drove ahead of his car and blocked the road, police said.

Wunderlich tested 27 on the drunkometer. A reading of 15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

City Needs $20,000 More For Snow Work

Estimate Includes Amount Needed Through This Spring

The city will need about $20,000 more in snow control funds for this winter, Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski announced today.

The sum, he said, would take the city through the spring thaw, but doesn't include provisions for the winter season later this year. Additional monies will have to be sought at that time, he added.

Snow control from Jan. 1 to March 1 cost the city $38,809, Duszynski said.

City's Budget — The 1959 city budget includes a $20,000 appropriation from taxes and an estimate that assessments for snow removal against property owners on business streets and for snow shoveling of walks will amount to about $22,000. This $42,000 in available funds will be wiped out and a large deficit will remain when outstanding bills are paid, Duszynski said.

Some Costs Unknown — Among the outstanding bills, he said, are $2,100 for salt, about $10,200 in payrolls since March 1, $915 for equipment rental from local concerns.

What the bill will be for the latest storm can't be determined until all removal work is complete. Crews are clearing off College avenue streets to the curbs, he said.

Another factor, he said, will be the bill from the city of Milwaukee for use of five pieces of equipment.

series of three sessions of a special class entitled, "Legal Problems Related to Newspapers and Publishers." Dr. Frank Thayer, University of Wisconsin professor of journalism, will conduct the opening and closing sessions in a series of three weekly meetings to be held at the Appleton vocational school beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 19.

Lecturing with Prof. Thayer will be August G. Eckhardt, professor of law, who specializes in the study of civil wrongs, which includes libel and slander. Prof. Eckhardt is a graduate of UW and has practiced law at Merrill. He also taught law at George Washington university for two years.

Prof. Thayer is author of "Legal Control of the Press," and "Newspaper Business Management." He was a newsman for the Springfield, Mass., Republican, and the Detroit News and later was president of his own daily newspaper publishing company.

The class is designed to help the working press understand legal problems to which the newspaperman and his newspaper are constantly exposed. Prof. Thayer's lectures and discussion will deal with libel and the privileges of fair comment. Prof. Eckhardt will discuss truth and privacy and how it relates to Wisconsin libel laws.

Further information about the class being conducted by the UW extension law department in cooperation with the Fox Cities vocational and adult schools may be obtained from Carl Bertram, director of the Appleton Vocational school.

Change of Climate May Not Help Asthmatic Youngster

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is Arizona's climate good for asthma? My son has a girl, 8, with this trouble. — L. L."

This is a question that is impossible for me to answer, and I'll explain to you why.

Most asthma is the result of allergy. This allergy can be caused by something you breathe, eat or touch. (Or a combination.)

For reasons not thoroughly understood, some allergies make you itch, some make you break out in a rash, some make you swell up in various parts, some make you sick at your stomach, some make your nose drip, and so on.

In asthma cases, as a general rule, it won't be just one single thing to which you happen to be sensitive. It may be quite a few.

These things need not be something that is breathed, as is the case with pollen which causes hay fever. They may, or may not.

Causes Not Limited — Therefore, finding some particular clear, warm climate, isn't necessarily going to do anything to help asthma. This is something you must dismiss from your mind—that asthma's causes are limited to the atmosphere.

I grant you that sometimes a change of climate may help, but it's not a sure thing.

Around Home... — A friendly possum brought both amazement and amusement to two families on Oakcrest court Wednesday afternoon.

The grayish woodland fellow, about as big as a good-sized cat, was first spotted in the back yard of the Jack R. Benton home, 1508 Oakcrest court. He was eating at the Benton's bird feeder. His antics became the major attraction for members of Mrs. Benton's sewing club, who dropped their stitching and took to possum watching from the windows instead.

Later the animal ambled over to the next door home of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Ames, 1514 Oakcrest, in search of food. He seemed completely at ease and unafraid when dried biscuits were thrown to him. Mr. Possum just lifted his long pointed nose and sniffed vigorously several times, then swooped each his cut up in his paws and went to work.

The Ames and Dr. Benton watched the animal at close range from a basement window at ground level on the hill side of the Ames' home. Ole Possum knew he had an audience, but he didn't care. He just went right on chomping.

Pontifical College Rector

Highest Ranking U. S. Prelate in Rome Has Important Assignments

Rome — Bishop Martin John O'Connor is the highest ranking American prelate of the Roman Catholic church residing in Rome.

He carries two important assignments.

He is rector of the Pontifical North American college where young Americans train for the priesthood. He also presides over the Vatican's motion pictures, radio and television commission, which interprets policy toward modern mass entertainment. This post makes him the highest American churchman in the Vatican Curia, administrative apparatus of the church.

To both jobs, the heavyset, jovial bishop brings a sense of humor and a confidence nourished by long experience in administrative and pastoral matters.

In the Family

His gray eyes sparkling, he recalls his mother, two aunts and a cousin when he talks of his own duties as rector. "They were all school teachers," he says. "I guess it runs in the family, my landing here as a schoolmaster."

Bishop O'Connor's mother, Catherine Caffrey O'Connor, taught school in Scranton, Pa., where he was born May 18, 1900. His father, St. Martin John O'Connor, was a businessman there.

Young Martin John went to Scranton public schools and entered St. Thomas college (now the University of Scranton) to start preparing himself for an ecclesiastical career. Graduated in 1918, he served a few months in the U. S. army and came to Rome in 1919 to study at the North American college.

Back to Scranton — Ordained in 1924, he continued his studies in Rome another year, then returned to Scranton. Later he became pastor of St. Peter's cathedral there.

In 1942, Pope Pius XII ap-

State to Aid Clintonville Save Airport

Clintonville — The state aeronautics commission will present a brief to the civil aeronautics board in support of Clintonville's attempt to gain recertification of North Central airline service, it has been learned.

Ald. Robert Moreland, chairman of the airport committee, told Clintonville councilmen T. K. Jordan, director of the state commission, advised Clintonville officials meeting with him that the state is concerned over the city's efforts to gain recertification.

The state, Moreland said, will enter the federal hearing not in partnership with Clintonville but on its own. The state is interested, he said, not only because of its considerable financial investment in the Clintonville port but because a precedent-setting situation could develop since Clintonville is the only airport in Wisconsin up for recertification.

Four Made Deacons In Norbertine Order

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — A former Appleton resident now a member of the Norbertine order was ordained a deacon of the Catholic church this morning in ceremonies at the new St. Norbert abbey, De Pere.

He is the Rev. Frater Martial T. Meulemans.

pointed him titular bishop of from 60 countries. Sometimes Thespiae, a title he still holds, Roman Catholics report problems in understanding the encyclicals. Sometimes they want interpretations.

The commission tries to give it to them. "That is our job," says Bishop O'Connor. "We are not a super tribunal of decency or anything like that. We are interpreters."

With World War II over, he became rector of his alma mater, the North American college. During the war, it had housed children of Italian nationals repatriated from abroad. Bishop O'Connor took the job of getting things back into working order. Then the college undertook a $3½ million building program.

In October 1953, Bishop O'Connor proudly welcomed Pope Pius XII to the new building on the Janiculum hill overlooking St. Peter's, for its inauguration and dedication.

Major Assignments

While the college kept him busy, he still found time to undertake important assignments. In 1947, the bishop was appointed president of the pontifical commission for motion pictures. This commission later was broadened to include television and radio. Early this year Pope Pius renewed the appointment, making Bishop O'Connor president for a 6-year term.

Every Monday he goes to the Vatican and meets with other members to handle problems arising from the Papal encyclicals on movies, radio and TV.

DC-3 Pilots In Training

North Central Has Courses on New Convair 340 Planes

Fifty North Central Airlines captains and co-pilots are currently training to fly Convair 340 aircraft, scheduled to go into operation April 26 on about 18 per cent of the company's nine-state system. The 25 captains in the class, all Minneapolis — or Chicago-based, have an average of 16 years of flight experience. 11 of them with North Central, according to Chief Pilot G. F. Wallis, head of the pilot training program.

The program is designed to qualify DC-3 pilots to operate 7.50-8.00; mediums 8.00 - 8.50; the new 44 passenger, pressurized, radar-equipped air-liners, five of which were recently purchased by the air-line.

Before beginning flight training, each pilot must complete 40 hours of ground school which includes a thorough study of a North Central Convair, supplemented by lectures, movies and slides. Company tests, patterned on Federal Aviation Agency standards, are given throughout training.

Landings, take-offs, air work, instrument training and general familiarization with the aircraft is taught, with stress placed on emergency procedures.

A stringent flight check, required by the FAA, must be passed at the completion of flight training. At this time pilots are given a type rating, also an FAA requirement, which signifies they are qualified to fly a Convair 340; standard aircraft in scheduled operation.

Industries Help in Lawrence Projects

The idea that American private business has a responsibility to American higher education was a topic that only college presidents talked about until a couple of sputniks put it in the news.

At least 10 years before corporate giving became nationally critical or even fashionable, it existed in a unique and lively form between Lawrence college and the industry which surrounds the college in Wisconsin's Fox River valley.

In a 20-year tradition of supporting the liberal arts, nearly $3,000,000 has been given to Lawrence by industrial sources, led by the 20 major paper mills within a 10-mile radius of the campus.

Here is what local industry began, and what a now-larger number of corporations, more diversified in both prod-

In the 1939-49 decade, industry gave $419,650 in annual gifts for operational costs, not buildings.

In those years already passed in the 1950 decade, these same donors have increased their gifts by one-third. From '50 through '58, they gave another $677,850 for operational costs.

At the end of World War II, industry remodeled the campus' Stephenson Hall of Science at a cost of $445,000.

In the early '40s, through industry gifts, endowment money tied up in non-productive buildings was returned to the active endowment fund. The fund, which in 1943 stood at $1,529,787 and produced $53,930 income, has been supplemented by bequests, gifts and prudent investments so in June, 1958, it stood at $3,406,035 and produced $162,538. This represents an earning power gain of from 3.5 per cent to 5.3 per cent.

New Emphasis
In 1953, a new emphasis was placed on corporate giving direct to current operations. A total of 110 companies have become financially interested in Lawrence, and a significant percentage of those have committed themselves to a program of annual gifts.

In 1955-56, trustees of the college, with some corporate assistance, built the $965,000 Lucinda Darling Colman residence hall for women.

In the last three years, industry and business gave gifts more than $1,075,800 of a total off significantly.

Elmer H. Jennings, chair of Lawrence Development Fund man of the Lawrence trustee For Greater Service for the committee on endowment and construction of the Lawrence Music-Drama center and a sixth quadrangle house. This amount broke down as follows: Wisconsin businesses—

$14,890.98; Appleton businesses — $62,645; and corporate gifts — $998,150.

Hasn't Fallen
President Douglas M. Knight noted that in spite of the emphasis on the building fund, the annual operational fund, the annual operational fund category has not fallen more than $1,075,800 of a total off significantly.

"We are grateful indeed to industry for its support of our capital needs. It appears now that we should not ask industry to underwrite more of the immediate capital needs of the college. (For the next few years this aid must come from interested individuals.)

"However, the giving of relatively modest annual contributions direct to the budget by a large number of corporations is of great importance. These contributions represent an excellent return on the equivalent of a large increase in endowment and are particularly helpful in placing faculty salaries on a more appropriate level. Over the last 20 years, corporate aid has been generous, continuous, and greatly appreciated."

Manawa Man Awarded High Service Honor

Veterinarians Fete Raymond L. Cuff For Livestock Work

Raymond Lee Cuff, a graduate of Little Wolf High school, Manawa, and the University of Wisconsin, has been awarded the distinguished service award of the Missouri Veterinary Medical association.

He is manager of the southwestern region of Livestock Conservation, Inc., and lives in Kansas City, Mo.

As county agent in Barron county after graduating from the University of Wisconsin with a bachelor of science degree from the college of agriculture in 1914, he instituted the first tuberculosis testing program in the nation. The program became the model for the national program.

Star Athlete
While at Little Wolf High school he held the distinction of being class president for all four years he was at school. He also played in every football, basketball and baseball game while at high school. He rowed four years on the UW crew.

He assisted the United States department of agriculture in developing the McLean county system of swine sanitation which was adopted nationally while serving as livestock adviser to McLean county, Ill.

He moved to Kansas City in 1922 and worked with swine tuberculosis, establishing the tattooing system still used to designate tuberculosis-free swine.

His work in Kansas City has been aimed at control of livestock parasites and last year he instituted the first tests in the use of tranquilizers on shipment of feeder cattle.

He has won many civic, agricultural and livestock citations including election to the Famous Badgers honor roll at the University of Wisconsin.

Suggests Possible Yearly Treaty Review

Geneva — U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth says a treaty for a controlled nuclear test ban should be subject to over-all review every year at the request of any of the three nuclear weapon powers.

Wadsworth submitted a new draft article to the 3-nation talks negotiating the treaty. The article provided for a first over-all review of the effectiveness of the control system two years after any treaty goes into effect.

The United States, Britain or Russia could request a further review every year thereafter. The reviews would be conducted in the 7-member control commission, on which the three powers are to hold permanent seats.
